GOVERNOR SIGNS THE BOROUGH BILL

Goehring Measure Providing for Municipal Annexation Becomes Law.

AUTOMOBILE ACT APPROVED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., April 19.

The Goehring bill amending the Goehring annexation act of 1903 is now a law. It allows 5 per cent of the qualified voters to petition for the municipal marriage of any city, borough, township or part of a township to a contingious city. The original act required 20 per cent.

The Cook Greater Pittsburgh bill has not been approved. It was supposed that the governor would dispose of it promptly, but he had planned to act upon other legislation first. The delay furnishes no cause for alarm. Gov. Pennypacker has not read the Stone brief.

An important bill approved today provides for the licensing of operators of automobiles and regulating the speed limit of these vehicles. The act goes into effect on January 1, 1906. Every operator of a machine must procure a license from the state highway department. The license fee is $3 a year. A license cannot be issued to a person under 18 years of age.

The governor ground out a number of vetoes today. In the lot was a bill introduced by Representative L. B. Cook of Pittsburgh. It sought to amend the act preventing the opening of streets or public roads through burial grounds. The purpose of the measure was to allow the widening of Brownstown avenue. In his veto message the governor says: "This bill appears to be unnecessary. The authority which the bill proposes to give has apparently already been granted by the act of 1881."

In his veto of the bill providing a penalty for making usurious loans, the governor says:

"This bill proposes to add to our system of jurisprudence another crime and makes a transaction founded upon a contract concerning moneys punishable by imprisonment for a year. It provides that any person making a loan at a greater rate of interest than 6 per cent per annum and taking as security household furniture, sewing machines, musical instruments, plate or silverware in actual use, tools or implements of trade, wearing apparel or jewelry should be guilty of a misdemeanor. Section 2 of the bill makes subject to the same penalties any person who shall take "any bonus or premium in excess of 6 per cent per annum interest on any sum paid to secure a loan of use of money or credit." There is a proviso to the effect "that this act shall not apply to any building or loan association, trust company or state bank whose charter now permits a charge of interest in excess of 6 per cent per annum." The proviso makes entirely clear the impropriety of having this bill become a law. The individual is to be imprisoned for doing that which in the case of certain corporations is made lawful. The inconsistency is manifest."

MR. ROOSEVELT'S BEARS WANTED FOR THE POOR

Denver Parson Makes Request for Carcasses of Animals Killed by the President.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, April 19.—Parson Thomas A. Uzzell of the Peoples Tabernacle sent to President Roosevelt, in care of Secretary Loeb, a message asking that he be given the carcasses of the bears killed during the president's hunt for distribution among the poor of Denver. A note indorsing the request "most heartily" was sent to the president by former Adjt.-Gen. Sherman M. Bell.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, COL., April 19.—With President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb in camp 20 miles from the nearest telegraph office, no news of the hunt came out of the woods today. When Mr. Loeb returns tomorrow it is expected he will bring information of the luck that has attended the president's hunt for big game.

Storms of snow, hail and rain surged about the mountains in the direction of the east divide nearly all day, and Mr. Loeb must have had a rough trip.

TRUST ANNEXES OF INSURANCE

The Equitable Disclosures Brings Them Under Searching Scruitiny.

ALEXANDER'S VIEWS

He Holds That Such Connections Facilitate Safe Investment of the Assets.

BETTER THAN REAL ESTATE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
Henry J. Ford, Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 19.—No charge against life insurance management has created more anxiety than the assertion that the millions passing into the hands of the principal companies have become the favorite instrument of stock jobbing syndicates, operating through trust company annexes to the insurance companies. Although the charter of the Equitable society restricts dividends upon the stock to 7 per cent annually, yet this 7 per cent stock has sold on the market as high as $5,500 a share. This certainly looks as if the opportunities of administrative control which accompany the stock are rated as a valuable privilege. In this connection much is made of the enormous sums which the big insurance companies have on deposit in banks and trust companies. On December 31, 1904, the Equitable had cash on hand thus deposited $22,651,668, the Mutual Life had $17,973,159, the New York Life had $17,461,563. It has been alleged that these deposits constitute a flotation fund for the speculative enterprises of Wall street, and that a tremendous money control has been erected upon the custody of the funds contributed by policy-holders.

The mutual accusations now going on between President Alexander and Vice President Hyde have established the fact that there has been a syndicate known as the "James H. Hyde and Associates," and that the Equitable society has purchased securities which were underwritten by this syndicate.

Condemned by the Law.

The insurance law of New York contains a section which declares:

No director or officer of an insurance corporation doing business in this state shall receive any money or valuable thing for negotiating, procuring or recommending any loan from any such corporation, or for selling or aiding in the sale of any stock or securities to or by such corporation. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall forfeit his position as such director or officer and be disqualified from thereafter holding such office in any insurance corporation.

The question whether "James H. Hyde and Associates" have incurred the penalty of this law is now being actively discussed. Pending final decisions as to the rights of the matter, Mr. Hyde has deposited with the treasurer of the Equitable his check for $61,446.92, which he says represents his entire profits from these syndicate transactions with interest at 6 per cent, the amount to be returned to him in case it shall be finally determined that he was legally entitled to engage in those transactions.

As to the general relations between the Equitable and trust companies, President Alexander has made the following statement:

President Alexander's Views.

The funds intrusted to us by policy-holders have to be invested, of course. They must earn a certain profit. That is vital to the scheme of life insurance, but the investments are scrutinized with the greatest care. There is an ever present consideration of the fact that the funds are trust funds.

It is true that the insurance companies underwrite large issues of securities. By so doing they earn commissions as underwriters. These commissions, added to the ordinary profits of the securities purchased, greatly increase the income of the companies. Suppose, for instance, there was an underwriting of $5,000,000 of new bonds offered to the Equitable society, and that we were entitled, as underwriters, to a commission of $75,000 on the whole amount. The stockholders of the corporation issuing these bonds might be entitled to a first choice. The chances are that we would not be called upon to take more than

JONES KILLS WIFE AND THEN HIMSELF

Fatal Quarrel Over Bequest of His Late Uncle—Shock to Pittsburgh Relatives.

WAS AN OHIO CONTRACTOR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MT. VERNON, O., April 19.—Fred W. Jones, son of the late Gen. G. Alexander Jones, and nephew of the late Hon. B. F. Jones of Pittsburgh, shot and killed his wife and then ended his own life at noon today. The husband and wife had quarrelled early in the morning over money matters. Jones asked his wife to turn over to him $1,000 received from the estate of the late B. F. Jones. Owing to her husband's intemperate habits she refused. Jones then packed his trunk and stated he would leave home. In the meantime Mrs. Jones, suspecting further trouble, telephoned for her brother-in-law, James Israel, superintendent of the Mt. Vernon bridge works. Mr. Israel soon reached the house, and was engaged in conversation with Mrs. Jones when Mr. Jones entered the room and made further demands for money.

He became abusive and Mrs. Jones stepped into the hall to call for a policeman. Jones followed her into the hall and pulled a revolver from his pocket. Mrs. Jones seeing the danger started back to Mr. Israel for protection, but just as she entered the door Jones shot her in the head and she fell dead in the doorway. Jones took a step backward and placing the revolver at his right temple discharged the weapon and fell dead on the floor. The whole tragedy was enacted before Israel, but happened so quickly he was unable to interfere.

Fred W. Jones was 53 years old and was the first roadmaster of the C. A. & C. railroad. During later years he has been in the contracting business and has built a number of electric roads in Ohio. At the time of his death he was president of the C. O. & N. railroad and the C. W., Mt. V. & C. railway to be constructed this summer. Mrs. Jones was 50 years old and was the daughter of David Wolf of Millersburg, O. They leave five children.

JEFFERSON MAY LIVE.

Change for Better in Actor's Condition Leads to Strong Hopes of His Ultimate Recovery.

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA., April 19.—The change for the better in the condition of Joseph Jefferson has been so encouraging to the physicians and the family as to lead to the hope of ultimate recovery. Mr. Jefferson is stronger tonight. Throughout the day, and especially this afternoon, he called for food and was able to retain chicken broth and brandy and milk. After he had eaten with a great deal of relish half of a one pound grape fruit.

At this hour everything is in the sick man's favor. There is a cool breeze from the ocean and the temperature has ranged during the day from 70 to 65 and is stationary tonight at 60. Mr. Jefferson has a room on the second floor of his cottage, "The Reef" where he can observe the ocean.

Gotham Will Be Shaken.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., April 19.—(Special.)—Dr. J. MacDonald, an astronomer of this city, in his almanac just published, says the solar configuration and sun spots indicate severe earthquakes in many sections, especially from Florida to Nova Scotia. New York city will suffer most. He predicts a number of buildings will be shaken down, and the loss of life will be terrible.

Japan, he says, will be nearly wiped off the earth by earthquakes, and a great tidal wave.

Miss Phipps' Engagement Announced.

LONDON, April 19.—(Special Cable.)—The Daily Mail this morning announces the engagement of Miss Amy Phipps to Captain Frederick Guest. They were recently passengers on the same steamer to New York and both denied their engagement. The announcement causes little surprise to London society. Capt. Guest is the third son of Baron Winborne and his mother is an aunt of the duke of Marlborough. Miss Phipps is the daughter of Henry Phipps, the philanthropist, formerly of Pittsburgh.

Nine members of the Pittsburgh city councils and four members of the Allegheny councils will be compelled to give up their public positions within a year if they wish to apply for a liquor license next year. The court requires them to resign their offices in time for their successors to be elected at the next regular election and as the next regular election is in February, 1906, and a notice of at least 30 days must be given prior to the election it will be necessary for these 13 councilmen to resign about the first of next January.

In Pittsburgh seven of the nine councilmen who are thus forced to retire from public life are members of select council and two of the common branch. In Allegheny one select councilman and three common councilmen retire. The following are the names of the councilmen who must retire from public office, the wards they represent and the years in which their terms would expire if they were permitted to serve out their terms:

PITTSBURGH.

JOHN A. JOYCE, common, First ward, 1906.
JOHN M. MORIN, common, Fourteenth, 1906.
P. J. BARRY, select, Fifth, 1906.
WILLIAM M'KELVEY, select, Eighth, 1908.
P. B. KEARNS, select, Tenth, 1906.
JOHN BARRY, select, Twelfth, 1908.
THOMAS O'BRIEN, select, Sixteenth, 1908.
J. W. RUHLANDT, select, Twenty-sixth, 1908.
JOHN COSTELLO, select, Thirty-fifth, 1908.

ALLEGHENY.

WILLIAM F. BILLINGER, common, Third ward, 1907.
DANIEL A. MALIE, common, Fourth, 1907.
JOHN DEMUTH, common, Seventh, 1907.
M. J. BROWN, select, Ninth, 1909.

The new rule of the court includes every person holding public office of any character, whether it be as councilman, school director, or in any subordinate political position in the city or county government. A number of saloonkeepers are school directors in Pittsburgh, but it is stated that Allegheny has not a single saloonkeeper on its school boards.

Two Councilmen Turned Down.

Two Pittsburgh councilmen were applicants this year for licenses, but were refused. Common Councilman Andrew Pfankuch of the Thirty-eighth ward, and Common Councilman Charles H. Bright of the Thirty-first ward, applied in vain. Councilman Bright was an unsuccessful applicant last year.

Select Councilman John Costello, who conducts a wholesale establishment in the Thirty-sixth ward, was held over for 60 days. He got his first license last year. Common Councilman Daniel A. Malie, who has a saloon in South Diamond street, Allegheny, was also held over for 60 days. John C. Henry, former mayor's clerk of Pittsburgh, was refused a license in the Twenty-first ward. George F. Mercer, custodian of the court house, was also an unsuccessful applicant. Frederick Waldschmidt, former alderman in Allegheny, was refused a license for Nos. 1200-1202 Federal street. Fred Beuchler, whose saloon in West Diamond street is the resort of North Side politicians, was held over for 15 days.

Rathskeller Refused.

Councilman P. J. Murphy of McKeesport, was granted a license in Smithfield street, near Third avenue. He was held over two years ago and last year was refused.

The list of liquor licenses for the year ending May 1, 1906, was handed down yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock by Judges Kennedy and Shafer. The list contained a number of surprises, the principal one of which was the refusal to grant a license to Thomas K. Lysinger, 306-310 Oliver avenue.

This is a victory for the First Presbyterian church, the minister and members of which protested most vigorously against granting the license because the rear entrance of the church is directly opposite the place. The Union cafe in the Frick building, against which were strong protests, received a renewal of its license.

No Free Lunches.

The list shows a slight increase in the number of licenses granted, and that the court was more lenient than last year, particularly in the outer wards and country districts. Nearly all the old dealers got licenses, and the increase is due mainly to the fact that a number of old dealers, who were refused last year, were successful this year. The total number of refusals was 524 and hold-overs 39.

The greatest surprise was the set of rules the court ordered after handing down the license list. They are in addition to the rules now in force, and in brief are as follows:

First—No free lunch shall be served by any licensee. The furnishing of crackers, cheese and pretzels as a relish to patrons of the bar will not, however, be considered a violation of this regulation, but the supply must not go beyond the articles mentioned.

Second—Neither wholesale nor retail dealers shall offer or give anything by way of premium to purchasers.

Third—No license will be granted to any person holding any public office.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr.

RAMSEY LEAVING WABASH RAILROAD

Resigns Presidency of Pittsburgh Terminal and Is Succeeded by F. A. Delano.

FRICTION WITH GOULD CAUSE

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., yesterday resigned the presidency of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, and F. A. Delano, formerly general manager of the Burlington, was elected to succeed him. The action was taken at a board meeting in New York.

Without any official statement to back it, the opinion is strong that this is but the first step in the severance of Mr. Ramsey's connection with the entire Wabash system. He is president not only of the Pittsburgh line, but of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, the Ann Arbor and the Wabash Railroad Company proper.

The cause of the resignation, Mr. Ramsey frankly states, is friction between himself and George J. Gould, the principal owner of the Wabash and the chairman of the various boards of directors. One of the troubles is known to have been over a lease recently made by the Wabash. Mr. Gould turned the matter over to Mr. Ramsey and was then influenced to take a hand in it himself. Mr. Ramsey finally told him that it was a case of one or the other handling the whole thing and Mr. Gould then quit.

May Leave Wabash in October.

Other cases of interference arose, and in January last Mr. Ramsey presented his resignation of the Pittsburgh Terminal presidency to Mr. Gould, but the latter persuaded him to withdraw it. More friction came and a few weeks ago Mr. Ramsey insisted that Mr. Gould accept his resignation without further delay.

He resigned the Western Maryland and West Virginia Central presidencies some time ago. It is said that at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Wheeling & Lake Erie he will not allow presentation of his name as a director and will leave that road. It is expected that he will quit the service of the Wabash proper in October, and will spend the next six months touring in Europe.

The question of further changes in the road as the result of Mr. Ramsey's resignation is as yet unsettled.

Record Is Remarkable.

There are few railroad presidents who have made a record equal to that of the Wabash president. He started his railroad career in Pittsburgh, accomplished much here and then entered western service. On the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton he did excellent work and finally organized the St. Louis Terminal association. He was elected vice president and general manager of the Wabash and found his great opportunity. He took in 1896 a more or less run-down western road and started to rejuvinate it and make it earn money. For over 100 consecutive months he made that road show increased earnings as compared with the same month of the preceding year, and financiers began to watch the aggressive manager.

He broached the Pittsburgh project to Mr. Gould, secured the world-famous Carnegie contract, now on the eve of consummation; bought the Wheeling & Lake Erie under the very eyes of the hostile Pennsylvania; put the Monongahela bridge bill through congress before the Pennsylvania awoke, and then for five years struggled with opposition from every source.

Broke Through the Barriers.

He finally, after two years' fighting against alleged corrupt opposition, put through Pittsburgh councils the best franchise that any Pittsburgh railroad has ever obtained, without speed or smoke restriction. He built with the co-operation of Chief Engineer J. W. Patterson the finest 60 miles of railroad around Pittsburgh, erected a bridge across the Monongahela which does not hurt the river traffic, and built in his native city one of the handsomest passenger stations in America today.

He managed the fight for terminals at Baltimore and won out. He secured for Wabash interests most valuable coal tracts in West Virginia, and started the connection which would give the Wabash its Atlantic seaboard line. He organized the work of rebuilding the Wheeling & Lake Erie and equipping it to give Pittsburgh its needed new lake coal and ore line.

With the West Side belt, the proposed line through the coke region, the Carnegie and Jones & Laughlin connections, the alliance with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, and the line up the Allegheny wharf to connect with the Pittsburgh Junction road, the South Side line and the Pittsburgh freight station he started the Pittsburgh freight terminal work now in progress which will make the Wabash a paying property for the first time.

The new president is a western railroad man not as yet well known in Pittsburgh.

Charges Against Officials Fail.

SCRANTON, April 19.—The cases brought by the Taxpayers' association against Director of Public Works Jayne, Supt. Terwillinger of the bureau of highways and sewers, and E. N. Smith, an employe of the department, charging padding of payrolls, have collapsed.

PIRATES OPEN THEIR SEASON

Over Twelve Thousand People See St. Louis Lose First Game.

FAVORITES GREETED

SAM LEEVER PITCHES WELL

National league baseball for Pittsburgh was inaugurated for this season yesterday afternoon at Exposition park in a Jeffersonian, but fitting manner.

The opening, compared with the last three years when pennants were set afloat to the pole in middlefield, which were symbolic of the championship of the league, was simple, but withal almost 13,000 faithful adherents of the great national game turned out to bid the Pirates a hearty welcome home from Cincinnati, where they opened the season last week, and to cheer while they walloped the St. Louis Cardinals to the queen's taste—8 to 4.

The attendance, to be exact, was 12,883, and every person seemed to be a member of the faithful class of rooters. It was a typical opening-day crowd, and prominent among the spectators was Harry C. Pulliam, president of the National league, who came to Pittsburgh from New York for the purpose of watching the first game here of his league's season and to toss the first ball to the umpire.

President Pulliam Tosses Ball.

The National league executive performed his feat admirably a few minutes before it was time to start the game. Umpire Klem caught the toss from the box from which it was dropped by Pulliam, with one hand, and when he then walked to the batter's position and in a stentorian voice bawled out "Play ball," the game was on, also the season for Pittsburgh fans.

The parade which always preceeds the game at the park was not as pretentious yesterday as in former years. On the contrary it was simple. The players of both clubs, following two carriages, which were led by the Grand Army band paraded the principal downtown streets, then over to Allegheny to the park.

The crowd, which began to assemble, was patiently waiting the coming of the teams, and a cheer went up when the band filed through the entrance in advance of the St. Louis team.

The musicians took a position in front of the grandstand near first base and up to the time of play ball rendered various late and catchy selections. The crowd, however, did not want music, but demanded baseball.

The musicians were not the only persons who tried to court favor with the players and spectators. Two old and distinguished gentlemen, Old Boreas and Old Sol, endeavored all afternoon to flirt with the good favors of those within the park. Old Boreas swept down across the field at times and sent a shiver up the backs of all, and then Old Sol smiled benignly, apparently hoping to win favor.

Old Favorites Recognized.

Thus it was kept up all afternoon, but while these gods were trying to gain the ascendency the fans watched the players. If there was a shade Old Boreas had it, as he caused the outfielders to be continually on the alert in chasing fly balls.

While there was nothing very pretentious incidental to the opening, it looked somewhat like a family gathering. St. Louis brought a bunch of old-time Pittsburgh favorites. There was Jimmy Burke, the aggressive third baseman, who once was a Pirate; Porter Shannon of Oakmont, whom Grove City college students point to with pride because he once was a member of their championship team, and there was Billy Campbell, the Lawrenceville boy, who is one of the most popular players that ever performed on the independent circuit in this section. Campbell's friends turned out to welcome him, but he was not in uniform. The club management had him taking tickets on the main entrance. Then Josh Clarke, once captain of the champion Homestead team, was in a St. Louis uniform. He sat on the bench. The Pittsburgh patrons were eager to see Brother Josh. And there was Jake Beckley, once a prime favorite on the local team.

The citizens from the northern end of the state were in the front seats of the grandstand. They were there partly because Otis Clymer was in right field for the Pirates. Clymer used to play the position for Punxsutawney, and wasn't that enough to bring out the enthusiastic? Then Bill Clancey had lots of friends present who knew him when he used to campaign over the independent circuit.

Sam. Leever Pitches Game.

The Punxsy friends, however, came near being in disgrace because of the action of Clymer. Clymer tried to pick out an error in Klem's decision in the seventh inning and he was expelled from the park by that august person. Clymer evidently wanted to show that he still could "gass" the "empire" like he did at Punxsy.

The crowd was in a happy frame of mind when the Pirates took to the field for preliminary practice. Wagner, as usual, received the lion's share of the fans' attention and in the practice he made some of the most sensational stops seen on any field. But a throw he made in the first inning would have lost him friends, and possibly a job, were he a minor leaguer.

In practice most all the Pirates' pitchers warmed up, while McFarland was doing the most for St. Louis. There was much surprise expressed when Klem announced that "The batteries today will be Leever and Peitz for Pittsburgh, and McFarland and Warner for St. Louis."

Leever was supposed to be a "dead one." Critics have sent him to the dark world of obscurity. Had the Schoolmaster ever been on that road, he must have decided he was still a "live one," as he yesterday, up to the ninth inning, pitched remarkable ball, one run and three hits being all the Cardinals could collect.

STORY OF THE GAME.

The Crowd Interested in Work of New Players—Clever Work Is Shown.

The opening game was the kind to please such a great crowd of baseball lovers not only because of the final result, which was 8 to 4 in the home team's favor, but because there was plenty of action all the way with good and bad ball playing sufficiently mixed as to give a display of both sides of the game. Both teams had their good and bad spells. The Pirates making their display right at the start off while the Cardinals held off until later in the game and then worked in their misses where they would do the locals the most good.

Owing to the monster crowd which surrounded the playing field a ground rule was necessary which made a hit into the crowd count for two bases. This rule hardly affected the game, as there were few hits better than singles. Of course the interest of the large part of the spectators was centered in the playing of the new men on the team and when they first appeared on the field they were given a generous reception, just to make them feel at home. The lion's share of the applause was bestowed on "Heinie" Peitz, who had already made himself a favorite and who cemented this good feeling by a clever display of catching as well as hitting.

Clymer Makes a Bad Break.

Clymer, who was in right field, and Clancy, at first base, both made good the advance notices given them. In the field Clymer had but little to do, having but one fly ball to take care of, but the high wind made the judging of fly balls very difficult. The new right fielder had to circle around some before he could get under the ball, but he got there all right and made a neat catch. At bat he managed to get one hit and it was a warm single to middle field which started the Pirates batting rally in the sixth inning. Clymer was guilty of one bad break which led to his ejection from the game. In the seventh inning with Peitz on second, Leever on first and none out the new man came to bat and dumped the ball down in front of the plate. Instead of running, as he should have done, he stood still thinking the ball foul, but the umpire ruled that it was fair and Clymer was not only put out, but Peitz was doubled up with him. For objecting to the decision Clymer was put out of the game. This gave Howard, another new player, a chance to be seen, but as he had nothing to do a line could not be secured on his ability.

Leever Was the Real Hero.

The real hero of the opening game, however, was not any of the new players, but that time tried old timer Schoolmaster Sam Leever. It was the Goshen boy's first chance in a real game this season and that he is all right was amply demonstrated. Leever was the sprightliest player of the whole bunch, and he not only pitched in his old-time mystifying style, but was there as a fielder and a base runner, in fact, his all around work was so clever that the crowd cheered him every time he appeared at bat. During the afternoon Samuel had nine assists, which is an unusual number for a pitcher, and he also had one put-out covering first in the eighth inning, getting the put-out on Warner, who had driven a hot grounder down at Clancy and the latter did not have time to reach the base. After this play Manager Clarke called to the Schoolmaster and offered his cap to him.

Leever's pitching was so good that up until the ninth inning but three hits had been secured by the Cardinals and there would not have been a run scored in that time but for bad throws by Wagner and Peitz. In the ninth, however, the Schoolmaster thought he could let up a little and it was then that the visitors developed a batting rally, securing four singles and a three-bagger right in succession which netted them three runs. At this point Manager Clarke set up an alarm cry which Leever heeded and putting on steam he soon shut off the hits and runs.

McFarland, who started in to do the pitching for the Cardinals, showed remarkable work for the first three innings, but after that the Pirates got the hang of the ball and bumped it to all parts of the field. McFarland's best work was shown in the third inning, when with the bases filled, he struck out Clymer, Clarke and Wagner in succession. McFarland held on until the end of the sixth inning when with the score 6 to 1 against his team he retired. Egan taking his place. This youngster started out as though he was going to spend the rest of the afternoon furnishing bases on balls to the Pirates, but he soon settled down and not a hit was made off his delivery during the two innings he was in the box.

Where the Runs Were Scored.

Both teams started off with a run in the opening inning, Shannon, the Oakmont boy, scoring for the Cardinals by virtue of a two-base throw by Wagner and another wild throw by Peitz. Clarke scored the Pirates' run when he doubled to middle field and got home on a single by Beaumont and a wild throw by Second Baseman Murch. There was nothing further doing until the fourth inning when Clancy led off with a single which was followed by safe hits by Leach, Ritchey and Peitz and aided by a wild throw by Burke, three runs were scored. In the fifth Wagner drew a base on balls and got around on a single by Clancy and a long fly out by Peitz. In the sixth singles by Clymer, Clarke and Leach, a sacrifice by Wagner and a base on balls to Beaumont netted three more runs.

After the first inning the Cardinals were helpless before the masterly pitching of Leever and never showed the least danger of scoring. In the ninth, with the score 8 to 1 in the Pirates' favor, Leever thought he would ease up a little and this act was the cause of quite a scare to the big crowd, as the visitors started to bang the ball to all parts of the field and in no time they had three runs over the plate with two men on the bases and but one out.

After Shannon had gone out on a fly to Beaumont Smoot pushed a single to right and Egan followed with another single. Big Jake Beckley then drove the ball to right for three bases, scoring Smoot and Egan. A single by Dunleavy brought Beckley's run home. Another single by Burke caused the crowd to gasp, but at this point Leever put on steam and the next two batsmen were easy outs. There were some clever fielding plays on both sides, Smoot and Dunleavy excelling for the Cardinals and Wagner and Beaumont for the Pirates. The score:

ANNEXES OF INSURANCE

$2,500,000 worth of them. But, having underwritten $5,000,000, we should be entitled to our commission of $75,000. That commission, added to the interest on the bonds, would bring our profit on the investment up to the point deemed necessary in the safe conduct of our business.

That illustrates in one way the reason why life insurance companies underwrite large issues of securities. An examination of the list of securities owned or held by the principal life insurance companies, and the list is open to all, will reveal how prudently the investment side of the business has been managed. The companies simply take advantage of the best opportunities for investment—opportunities not commonly open to individuals.

The power to underwrite bond issues is a valuable source of income in the life insurance business, and one that adds greatly to its financial strength. It is one of the advantages which the policy-holders derive from the massing of their funds.

It is true that the Equitable society owns a large interest in two trust companies, and that it is also interested in the Bank of Commerce. But this relationship is not the result of premeditated design.

It was an evolution of conditions. We have millions of dollars invested in real estate. We have something like $14,000,000 invested in one building in New York. These lands and buildings are necessary as conservative investments, as visible signs of our strength, and as headquarters for our business.

Through the renting of quarters to trust companies we finally became interested in two of them, in much the same way we became interested in the Bank of Commerce. We must have depositories for our funds, and is it not the most natural thing in the world that we should deposit in institutions in whose success our corporation is financially interested?

Enormous Cash Holdings.

I find that in financial circles this view of the case is generally accepted and it is held that the safe investment of the funds is facilitated by the trust company connections. Of the Equitable's total assets of $413,933,020, investments in bank and trust company stocks amount to $26,877,066. The par value of these securities is $10,150,900 or less than half what the Equitable paid for them, but their market value on December 31, 1904, was $42,076,130. The Mutual owns like securities to the par value of $10,248,100, but its published report, which is much less communicative than that of the other large companies, does not give the book value. This class of securities yields a higher dividend income than any other class of investments and the New York Life, which does not invest in stocks of any kind, has a somewhat lower ratio of assets to insurance carried than the other two large companies.

While the syndicate operations of "James H. Hyde and Associates" are severely condemned as a gross impropriety, to say the least, it is not the belief of well-informed people that the large accumulations of insurance funds in trust companies are systematically designed to further such practices. It is pointed out that a company with an annual income of $80,000,000 must necessarily have a large amount of cash on hand at any one time pending investment. The New York Life, which owns no stock in banks or trust companies, has just about as much cash on deposit as the other big companies. The total amount on deposit in banks and trust companies by the life insurance companies of the United States on December 31, 1903, was $96,255,007, of which $70,178,482 belonged to the three leading companies whose assets amount to nearly one-half of the total assets of life insurance. It is stated that deposits are abnormally large at the close of the year when the reports are made up as receipts are then heaviest. The statement has been repeatedly made to me by financiers that insurance companies keep their funds invested up more closely than savings banks and that the latter habitually carry more of their assets in the form of deposits in other banks than do life insurance companies. Such savings bank statements as I have examined bear out this statement, but savings banks have to be ready to meet the demands of their depositors, while policy-holders cannot reclaim their money when they have put it into the hands of an insurance company.

Real Estate Unremunerative.

One might imagine that a preferred investment for insurance funds would be mortgages upon real estate, but it is stated that this is really the most troublesome and least remunerative form of investment. Vice President John R. Lunger of the Travelers of Hartford, declared in a lecture in the Yale insurance course that insurance investments in real estate mortgages have yielded less than half the income which would have been derived had the money been invested in first-class railroad bonds. This estimate agrees with results shown in the liquidation of companies which went down in the disastrous decade of 1870-80. In winding up the affairs of six of the largest failing companies real estate and mortgages upon real estate realized about 31½ per cent upon the investment while all other assets yielded a little over 49 per cent. The inclination of insurance companies toward banking operations therefore seems justifiable as affording the best oportunities for the productive investment of funds. The detailed exhibits which the law compels them to give of the securities held by them subjects the character of their investments to due supervision. A policy-holder has no difficulty in finding just how the company's assets are invested and can more readily form an opinion of his own in the case of bonds and stocks than in the case of parcels of real estate.

AGENTS CALL ON HYDE TO RESIGN

Equitable Vice President Says Their Demand Is Insulting and Preposterous.

SAYS HE WILL NOT STEP OUT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 19.—After a protracted session behind closed doors, the 200 general agents of the Equitable Life Assurance society today adopted a resolution calling on Vice President J. H. Hyde to resign, and appointing a committee of five to call on Mr. Hyde and present the demands.

When the meeting of the agents adjourned tonight this committee had not called on Mr. Hyde, nor had it reported to the meeting. Current talk had it that the resolution had been mailed to Mr. Hyde, with comments.

Mr. Hyde was informed the committee of agents would reach his office at 4 o'clock. He awaited its arrival, in company with his personal counsel, Samuel Untermyer, Winslow S. Pierce and W. C. Gulliver. At 5:30 the committee had not appeared, and Mr. Hyde with his counsel left the office of the Equitable.

Mr. Hyde said: "I have not seen the committee and I have not seen the resolutions, but I consider them impertinent, extraordinary, insulting and most preposterous. I have no intention of resigning."

It was said that all but 17 of the agents had voted to request Mr. Hyde's resignation, and to support Mr. Alexander. The number voting for the resolution is said to be 193.

While awaiting the appearance of the committee a permanent organization was formed and a large committee was elected to go to Albany Friday to petition the insurance commissioner and Gov. Higgins to urge the mutualization of the Equitable. Among the committee are B. A. Woods of Pittsburgh and T. B. Sweeney of Wheeling.

The following committee on permanent organization of the "National Association of Managers" was named: C. J. Edwards, chairman; E. A. Woods, Pittsburgh; A. M. Shields, San Francisco; J. S. Kendrick, St. Louis; R. L. Hart, Philadelphia; F. L. Levy, New Orleans; F. H. Hazelton, Portland, Me.; R. L. Foreman, Atlanta; A. C. Haynes, New York.

A committee was named to bring President Alexander and Second Vice President Tarbell before the convention to thank them for the hospitality received at their hands. Mr. Alexander said that he could not express his great pleasure and love for the agents who had so magnificently upheld his action and had expressed their confidence in him.

Mr. Tarbell spoke of his 12 years pleasant relations with the agents and managers of the Equitable, and closed by paying a tribute to Mr. Alexander.

Tarbell Denies Designs.

Mr. Tarbell today denied a statement made by Henry H. Knowles, formerly superintendent of agencies for the Equitable, in which Mr. Knowles said Mr. Tarbell was at the bottom of the Equitable troubles and that he had entered into a compact to oust Vice President Hyde and succeed President Alexander when the head of the society retired. Mr. Tarbell said: "I never entered into any compact such as he speaks of. There was never any question about Mr. Alexander resigning the presidency. It is a ridiculous proposition because Mr. Alexander is so eminently fitted for the place, and his intention is to hold it until his death. Mr. Alexander is the soul of honor; he would cut off his right hand if he could prevent all this scandal coming up."

One of the interesting developments of the late session was the adoption of the following resolution:

Whereas, It has been persistently suggested in the public prints that the agents are for mutualization because they seek to acquire full or partial control of the society by acquiring proxies therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the general agents of the society in convention assembled, hereby declare that we do not ask nor will we seek for ourselves for any part of the control of the Equitable, but do demand that through the policy-holders this shall be so vested as to best conserve their interests, without the confidence of whom we cannot exist in this business.

Late tonight announcement was made that the agents committee appointed to wait on Mr. Hyde and present the resolutions asking his resignation, had arranged to meet him tomorrow morning at his home at 9 o'clock. The agents will meet again tomorrow morning to receive report on the Hyde conference.

WANTED THE EQUITABLE OUSTED FROM OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., April 19.—D. E. Williams, an attorney, today asked the state insurance commission to stop the Equitable Life Assurance Society from doing business in Ohio. The commission refused to take such action, holding that the society had done nothing to cause it to be ousted from Ohio.

Asks Receiver for Equitable.

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—Edgar M. Cahn, an attorney, filed suit today on behalf of himself and other policyholders of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, asking for a receivership under the laws of Louisiana, and for an accounting of the company's affairs in view of the New York situation. The petition represents that the company has large interests in Louisiana.

South Side Consumers Meet and Adopt Hot Resolutions Censuring the Monongahela Company.

The Water Consumers association of the South Side last night held a meeting in the Humboldt sub-district school house and adopted resolutions censuring the Monongahela Water Company for its failure to live up to its contract with the city of Pittsburgh. Some of the speakers still have a faint hope that city councils may do their duty and proceed against the company for non-fulfillment of its agreement with the city, and therefore they did not come out with the criticisms of the councils which were boiling within them.

Dr. H. L. Reinecke presided and speeches were made by John B. Yellig, John P. Walker, Anton Derlinger, Casper Reppel and J. A. Adams. It was decided to make vigorous efforts to raise funds to carry on a legal fight against the company, if councils will not come to the water consumers' assistance.

The resolutions were presented by H. M. Prugh. They assert that the company does not charge the rates stipulated in its contract with the city and demand that the city authorities' attention be called to the schedule of rates charged by the company, and to its refusal to permit the installation of meters. Chairman Reinecke will appoint a committee to carry on the work.

SCANDRETT MAKES DENIAL.

States That Former Superintendent Campbell Is Not Again on the Allegheny Payroll.

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the public safety department of Allegheny last night denied that Melvin H. Campbell, former superintendent of police, now under suspension, was again on the city payroll. Asked whether Charles Striepeke, former street commissioner of Allegheny, was doing work for the city he replied: "I don't want to talk about that."

During the day the statement was made that Campbell had reconciled his differences with the city administration and was being taken care of, and that Striepeke had been employed in painting several engine houses and other public buildings under the control of the city government.

Late yesterday afternoon two more informations in the graft crusade were made before Alderman Toole against Allegheny women. Additional informations against Frederick Tschume and B. A. Earl were made on Tuesday. They are now under bail on the charge of aiding and abetting in the maintenance of a disorderly house. The cases against Capt. James Wilson are expected to come up on Monday.

MAN HAS TWO WIVES WHEN CASE REOPENED

Alleged Co-Respondent Says He Was Paid to Testify Against Woman.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

EBENSBURG, April 19.—One of the most sensational divorce cases ever known in this section is now in progress here. The case was reopened today to have Mrs. Mary Pearl Stephens, the defendant, and her witnesses give their testimony.

Last December her husband, Charles G. Stephens was granted a divorce, charging his wife with wrong-doing, and named William Swanborough. He produced a letter at the first hearing, purporting to have been written by his wife, admitting her guilt and praying that he be granted a divorce. Mrs. Stephens claimed she was not served with the subpoena in divorce and that the letter was a forgery. The court granted a rule for Stephens to show cause why the decree should not be annulled. Stephens married Miss Nellie Fisher, the daughter of a well-known Cambria county hotel man, a day or two after the court had granted his decree of divorce, and is now the husband of two wives.

Swansborough appeared today and testified that Stephens had offered him $75 if he would swear that he and Mrs. Stephens were guilty. The case will now likely go to court and receive a jury trial.

D. A. R. ELECTION IS VERY EXCITING

Tellers Kept Busy All Night Counting Ballots for President General.

HONOR FOR MRS. FAIRBANKS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.

With intense interest the delegates to the continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution are awaiting tonight the result of the voting for national officers. The ballots were cast late this afternoon and tellers are now counting them behind closed doors. It was said at midnight that the result might not be known until a very late hour. No public announcement of the result would be made until morning.

Friends of Mrs. Donald McLean of New York, appear more confident tonight than supporters of other candidates for president general.

This morning the campaign for president general proceeded vigorously. Friends of each of the three candidates expressed confidence in the victory of their leader, but it was noticeable that, on the part of none of them was there the slightest relaxation in the work of vote-getting. Long before the session was called to order Memorial hall was thronged with delegates and interested spectators. The very atmosphere of the hall was surcharged with excitement, and it was with difficulty that President General Fairbanks brought about a semblance of order.

The following were placed in nomination for vice presidents general, in addition to those nominated last night: Mrs. Franklin E. Brooks, Colorado; Mrs. John Cunningham Hazen, New York; Mrs. O. J. Hodge, Ohio; Mrs. George Nicholls, South Carolina; Mrs. H. F. Chamberlain, Tennessee; Mrs. Charles H. Deere, Illinois; Mrs. Katherine L. Eagan, Florida; Mrs. Milton H. Everett, Nebraska; Mrs. Lindsay Patterson, North Carolina; Mrs. Mary Wood Swift, California; Mrs. Catherine S. McCartney, Pennsylvania; Mrs. John Leary, Washington; Mrs. Mary Phelps Montgomery, Oregon, and Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, District of Columbia.

Mrs. Sara T. Kinney, state regent of Connecticut, named Mrs. Charles Warren Fairbanks as the honorary president-general. Mrs. Fairbanks evidently was taken by surprise, but she yielded the chair temporarily to Mrs. Carey of Indiana. The delegation rose as a body and gave Mrs. Fairbanks an ovation. The nomination was made an election amid enthusiastic applause. In resuming the chair Mrs. Fairbanks said:

"This is the last of many honors you have confered upon your president-general, and she thanks you from the bottom of a grateful heart."

Other nominations were made as follows:

Chaplain general, Mrs. T. S. Hamlin, District of Columbia; recording secretary general, Miss Mary Desha, District of Columbia; Mrs. M. B. Prentice, District of Columbia; corresponding secretary general, Miss Virginia Miller and Mrs. John Russell Young, both of the District of Columbia; registrar general, Mrs. George G. Martin, District of Columbia, and Mrs. J. S. Jamieson, Virginia; treasurer general, Mrs. M. N. S. Davis, District of Columbia; historian general, Mrs. Jonathan P. Dolliver, Iowa; assistant historian general, Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, District of Columbia; librarian general, Miss A. G. Solomons, District of Columbia; editor American Monthly Magazine, Mrs. Elray M. Avery; business manager of the magazine, Miss Lilian Lockwood. The rules were suspended and Mrs. Avery and Miss Lockwood were elected.

Mrs. Fairbanks gave a reception in honor of the Daughters at her home tonight. She was assisted in receiving by a dozen of the prominent members of the organization. It was said that Mrs. Donald McLean, one of the candidates for the office of president-general, and some of her friends did not attend the reception.

HOLD SEDER SERVICES.

Jewish Families Carry Out Old-Time Custom in Ushering in Feast of the Passover.

In nearly all Jewish homes last night, particularly those of orthodox faith, the impressive Seder services marked the beginning of the feast of the Passover, in commemoration of the escape of the Israelites out of Egypt.

The Seder service consists of the master of the house seating himself at the head of the table with his wife at his right and eldest son at his left. In front of him are three loaves of unleavened bread—matzoth—covered with a white cloth. Close at hand is a dish containing the portion of a shoulder or shank of a fowl, roasted almost unto charring. A second dish contains an egg, hard-boiled, while a third contains horseradish or some bitter herb.

The matzoth represent the unleavened dough which the Israelites carried with them in their flight; the shank bone or shoulder represents the paschal lamb, and the bitter herbs symbolize the bitter days of slavery. Hands are washed and blessing recited, as the head of the house breaks the matzoth and pointing to the other dishes, recites: "Lo! This is the bread of affliction which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt; let all who are hungry enter and eat thereof, and all who are in need come and celebrate the Passover." The younger members of the family follow with recitals of the flight out of Egypt.

Special services were held in all synagogues last night, and the feast, which continues eight days, is one of joy.

FIRST STEP IS TAKEN.

Chicago Officials and Traction Interests Pave Way for Speedy Municipal Ownership.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Negotiations for the purchase of the Chicago street railways were opened today between the traction representatives and the city. A proposition is pending under which the company will at once proceed to modernize their lines and sell to the city at a fair price.

The nearest approach to definite results obtained from the conference was a practical agreement upon a joint conference to be held soon by the mayor, the traction interests and the city council committee on transportation; ultimate purchase of the lines, and the settlement of all controversy between the street railway companies and the city.

"TOM" JOHNSTON LEAVES.

Chief Clerk in District Attorney's Office Resigns to Take a Trip to Europe.

Thomas Johnston has tendered his resignation as chief clerk in the district attorney's office to Maj. R. E. Stewart. Mr. Johnston is a son of the late Ex-Gov. William F. Johnston, and a brother of the late Richard Johnston, who died while serving as district attorney. He has held the position of chief clerk in the district attorney's office for the past 15 years, serving under District Attorneys Johnston, Burleigh, Haymaker and the incumbent.

Although not an attorney he was well informed in the criminal code and his work was of great value in the office. He made many friends, and will be missed by those having business in the criminal court.

Mr. Johnston contemplates a trip to Europe and will leave sometime in June.

WAITS FOR THIRD PACIFIC FLEET

Japan Believes This to Be Rojestvensky's Reason for Remaining at Kamranh Bay.

MAKES PROTEST TO FRANCE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOKYO, April 19.—It is believed the Russian second Pacific squadron continues the occupation of Kamranh bay, or some other port of Annam, where it is expected to remain until joined by the third Russian Pacific squadron. The report that Admiral Rojestvensky is maintaining a patrol and examining neutral shipping off Kamranh bay increases the irritation toward France for permitting the use of that port as a base of operations. The Japanese government continues silent regarding the representations on this subject, which have been made to France.

LONDON, April 19.—Now that there is seen to be a growing likelihood of Vice Admiral Nebogatoff joining Rojestvensky before the fateful naval struggle opens, lukewarm interest is deepening into anxiety. According to a Tokyo correspondent a momentous war conference lasting five hours was held there Wednesday, attended by the elder statesmen, the premier and ministers. It is stated Japan has addressed a protest to France on the Ruslan Pacific squadron's presence in Kamranh bay, but that France has not yet replied. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Tokyo declares that a Japanese fleet is ready to sail for Kamranh bay.

CHICAGO, April 19.—A special to the Daily News from Tokyo, says: "At a conference of the elder statesmen and the principal cabinet ministers today, a strongly-worded protest was sent to France regarding its frequent violations of neutrality in providing shelter for and rendering assistance to Russia's Baltic fleet at Madagascar and now at Kamranh bay. No answer has as yet been received from the French authorities."

YENKOW, April 17.—(Via Tientsin.)—April 19.—Few transports are now arriving at Niuchwang. This contrast with the rush of traffic since the opening of the Liao river indicates that precautions are being taken against possible interference by the Russian Pacific squadron.

Vast accumulations of stores have already been made along the Japanese lines of communication, assuring full supplies to the armies in the field, even if the transport service is interrupted.

AMOY, STRAITS OF FORMOSA, April 19.—The provincial officials held a conference today, with the object of determining on the course to be adopted in case of the Russian squadron appearing here. The officials are prepared to insist on the neutrality of this port being respected.

MRS. EDWARD'S CASE DELAYED

Pardon Board Continues Application of Woman Sentenced to Death.

Allegheny County Cases.

HARRISBURG, April 19.—The application of Mrs. Kate Edwards and Samuel Greason for a communitation of their death sentences to life imprisonment was again continued by the board of pardons today, and will not be heard until the Berks county court disposes of Greason's application for a new trial.

A pardon was recommended for James Goodfellow, voluntary manslaughter, Allegheny. The case of Thomas Demarks, Allegheny, misdemeanor, was continued.

SENATOR PLATT HAS SUFFERED A RELAPSE

WASHINGTON, CONN., April 19.—Senator O. H. Platt suffered a relapse tonight. His physician, Dr. W. J. Ford, said that Mr. Platt had had a chill and that there was a return of the bronchial trouble on the patient's right side. "The chill," said Dr. Ford, "has given a serious aspect to the situation, and after a careful examination I find that there is a reappearance of pneumonia."

The Splendor of Our Exhibit of Easter Millinery.

Loveliest sight that eye of woman could behold, this radiant display of Easter Millinery creations. From end to end the great third floor, West, is laden with most beautiful hats and bonnets, toques and turbans.

Exquisite creations for every age and every style of beauty. Styles designed especially for the tiny girl, girlish hats for the young miss, smartest models for maid and young matron alike, hats for the woman in the autumn of life and for the elderly lady.

Dozens of new straws and braids have been employed, loveliest flowers vie with ribbons and velvets, buckles and chiffons in the confections from Paris and the Americanized replicas thereof. The variety of contour and of trimming is far in excess of the ordinary, yet every hat is strictly within the limitations Fashion has set. Some of the conceptions are a bit daring, but good taste is never overstepped, others again are most quiet and refined in style, but distinctive nevertheless.

Below we describe briefly a few numbers, in each case one of a line containing many others of equal beauty, at the same price, each with its note of individuality.

Trimmed Hats—

Polo Turbans formed of box-pleated French chip braid alternated with plaid straw—simply but tastefully trimmed with twist of mirrored velvet, with a wired velvet polo loop to the left. Shown in champagne and blue and many other equally attractive contrasts. $3.50.

Hundreds of styles in Tailored Hats, smartest of smart creations—as an example of Polo Turban made of folds of champagne percaline and silk braid, trimmed in chiffon of brown, with a knot of chiffon and an eagle quill to one side. This style is also exhibited in black, bluet, burnt, navy and brown. $6.00.

The Tommy Atkins Turban is another of the very newest—a clever little hat of French chip braid trimmed with leather bands, a large gilt buckle and a double military aigrette. $6.00. White with black, tuscan with black.

A very striking lingerie model is in Charlotte Corday effect—cream-colored straw and very narrow white Val. lace conspire to form one of the daintiest creations woman ever donned. Trimmed with very soft ribbon in either bluet, champagne, pink or ceil. $7.00.

Charlotte Corday effects of satin braid trimmed with very heavy ruching of brown chiffon, the foundation being champagne color. A chou of chiffon is the only additional trimming. Shown also with navy, reseda, tan or white chiffon. $8.50.

One of our many Paris models—a wide trimmed hat bent into the shape which shows the trimming next the hair. The hat is formed of a delicate pink braid with insertions of finely pleated pink tulle. On top there is a loose wreath of pink and grie roses with green foliage—underneath four pink tips and ribbon. $30.00.

One of our New York models—Francois is the author of this creation. Jap. straw in a sort of Tam-o'-Shanter style, trimmed with three very large full plumes, which shade from the most delicate pink to American beauty. A new flower, red in velvet ribbon, gives a finishing touch. $30.00.

One of our own designs—a new shape which leans a little toward the sailor type—the top of cream Yeddo braid, the facing of very narrow ruffles of cream Val. lace—a white Amazon boa almost circles the hat and falls gracefully over one side. French taffeta ribbon is twisted in and out from the plume. $30.00.

Untrimmed Hats—

We are showing a magnificent collection of untrimmed dress shapes in the smartest and most up-to-date styles—every shape seen in the trimmed hats may also be had in the untrimmed shape. About every color of braid and straw—black, white, reseda, brown, champagne, violet, linen, blue, navy, cardinal and others in two-toned effects.

Imported Chips run from $1.00 to $3.50.
Plain Straws from 65c to $2.50.
Fancy braids from $2.50 to $7.00.

Flowers—

Flowers are always much used in trimming Spring and Summer hats—if you like to exercise your own taste you can buy fine French Flowers here for these reduced prices—

Crushed La France Roses, very large, two buds, thorn step beautifully branched with foliage, regularly 85c, today 45c.
Shaded foliage—from brown to green and all green, 27 leaves to the bunch, regularly 35c, today 15c.
Blue Bells, in six beautiful shades, including pink, blue and yellow, regularly 50c, today 25c.
American Beauty Roses, one large rose with half-blown bud and five branches of foliage. Regularly 75c, today 45c.
Crushed Roses, bunches of three—twenty-five different shades—velvet, silk or muslin petals. Regularly 45c, today 25c.

Children's Millinery—

Selection from an assortment of youthful millinery such as we show relieves mothers of a great deal of worry and trouble in buying hats for the girls of the family. Below we give one each from two of our most popular lines—

Owing to the use of the Mexican dollar in several Asiatic countries and the discrimination of that republic against the silver coined elsewhere, Secretary Shaw has had to fix an arbitrary value for this coin. Thus far it has been determined by the bullion value during the preceeding three months to the circular declaration, but as Mexico goes on a gold basis after May 1 Secretary Shaw has decided it shall be worth 49.8 cents after that date on goods imported from that republic, while on those that come from elsewhere the bullion valuation shall prevail.

Councilman A. G. Roenigk has discovered some old charter legislation that inspires in him the hope that compensation may be secured from some of the public service corporations by a tax on receipts. While it is not wise to become too enthusiastic over this prospect, the public will be gratified, indeed, if Mr. Roenigk's conclusions are verified. Even in that case a movement may be started in councils to protect the corporations rather than one to impose the tax. One can never tell just what Pittsburgh councils will do, and they have been particularly unmindful of public interests under the present regime.

Pittsburgh is a "good baseball town" in the parlance of the diamond field. It turned out the usual crowd to see the opening game of the season yesterday, packing every inch of the space available for spectators. The Pittsburgh crowd always pays the highest rate, too, so it is in high favor with the man at the ticket window. Yet it is a fact that baseball enthusiasm is not now what it was a dozen years ago. Had it maintained the ardor of former years, along with the increase in population, old Exposition park would be wholly inadequate to accommodate the crowds. It may be left to those who run the league to decide why there has been a decrease in popular favor.

Four years ago a registered package valued at $8,000 was stolen from the Kansas City postoffice, and although the theft was never conclusively traced, suspicion pointed to S. F. Scott, a registry clerk, who was consequently removed. His father, who was postmaster at Kansas City, died soon after that, and the son has lived under the stigma of the accusation, which could never be proven. Now the postal detectives have found the real criminal, and in order to repair as far as possible the injury to Mr. Scott, he has been offered his old place. It is not expected he will accept, for he realizes the sting left by the accusation can never be removed. The incident repeats the caution often necessary to zealous officials that it is better to allow several who are guilty to escape than to permit haste to result in false accusations against an innocent man.

Local issues controlled most of the municipal elections held in Illinois Tuesday, and in many of the small places there were contests over the proposition to grant liquor licenses. The Prohibitionists won in less than one-fourth of the towns. Municipal ownership figures in the elections at Elgin and Lagrange, and in the former city the candidate pledged to inaugurate it won by a large majority. There was considerable indignation felt over the lease of the electric lighting plant to a private corporation in Elgin, while similar conditions determined the result at Lagrange. The Chicago example seems to be emulated generally, the voters being unwilling to wait and see what success that city has in appropriating and managing the traction companies.

No decisive action was taken on the "slum" question at the meeting held in the chamber of commerce rooms yesterday, but there was some useful discussion. We cannot agree to the radical program of Rabbi J. Leonard Levy to raze the tenement districts, or to rehabilitate them under municipal ownership. There are better methods. Meanwhile Director Moore of the safety department and Supt. Moore of the health bureau are quoted as declaring there are no real slums in Pittsburgh and few unsanitary tenements. There are quite well authenticated reports of from 20 to 50 persons living and sleeping in single apartments in several sections of the city. It is not possible for that kind of living to be sanitary or clean. The disagreement of authorities on this subject makes more apparent the necessity for careful, impartial investigation, the collection of data and disclosure of the truth. Absolute information is essential to the beginning of reform.

Origin of Petroleum.

There has recently been a revival of the controversy over the probable origin of petroleum. A lively contribution to its literature has been furnished by Eugene Coste, M. E., in an address before the Canadian Institute, he taking the position that it is wholly derived from volcanic processes. Mr. Coste has been making some investigations and declares emphatically that geologists who set forth the theory of distillation from organic remains are all wrong. He cites observed phenomena in the Texas and California fields in support of his assertion.

It is not likely Mr. Coste will have the last word on this subject. The phenomena he notes in Texas and California were long ago observed in the Baku district of Russia, where they are even more demonstrative of the forces at work. It is the opinion of competent geologists who have investigated the subject for practical purposes that the oils of Baku, California and Texas are of volcanic origin, or at least the products of chemical action. These same savants, however, are not so sure about the source of Pennsylvania oil, and incline to the belief in organic beginnings.

All of the oils which are considered by Mr. Coste are on an asphalt base. They are apparently produced by the action of chloride gases and salines, in conjunction with other mineral substances. They may be regarded as comparatively recent, and in most cases the fields are not distant from seacoasts. In Baku and Batoum; in Texas and California, the old fields give present evidence of volcanic activity. The process of manufacture appears to take place near the region where the salt and fresh waters meet. It is not difficult to refer the Kansas-Territory fields to a comparatively recent geological epoch under similar conditions, though it appears possible the Indian territory may supply the link between the creation of the grosser and finer mineral oils.

In the Appalachian fields there is no trace of asphaltum, and the oil itself has no squeous element. It is associated with salt water, it is true, but each occupies a distinct area of the common bed. The paraffine base distinguishes this oil from the oils produced where there is present volcanic disturbance. The Pennsylvania oil fields are underlaid by the Huron shales, of carboniferous composition, and it will be difficult to prove the petroleum was not distilled from that formation. Decision of the issue is not vital to the oil-producing industry, in any case, or there would probably be no controversy now.

Increase in Cremations.

In spite of lingering prejudice against cremation, this method of disposing of the dead is on the increase. When crematories first began to be established in this country twenty-odd years ago there was considerable enthusiasm over the custom and predictions were made it would soon supersede burials. Companies were organized to provide for the disposal of bodies so as to avoid giving offense to sensitive relatives, and various methods were devised for preserving the ashes. But a reaction came and there appeared to be a falling off in the practice for a time. Now it is said there has been a revival in this country, while abroad it is gaining a hold, especially in France, where cremations have increased in the last five years. In New York city there has been a pretty steady growth in the number desiring this disposition for the bodies of their friends until there were 841 cremated in 1904, as against 269 in 1895. San Francisco leads with 975 cremations a year, but the growth of the form has been steady throughout the country.

It is interesting that cremation has emphasized the fact that the disposition of a person's body is more a matter for the relatives to decide than for the individual to determine before death. This was decided in the case of a Catholic peer who died in England and ordered that his body be burned. The relatives protested and the courts sustained them, holding that testamentary commands of that sort are not binding. New customs are slow of adoption and cremation of the dead is no exception to the rule.

The Equitable Tempest.

The demand made by the Equitable agents that Vice President Hyde should resign is a very natural expression of indignation at the improprieties committed by him, and of which he has made confession. Not only as regards their business interests, but in the much higher position as representatives of the policyholders whom they induced to invest in the company's contracts, the agents have sound moral grounds upon which to stand in condemning Mr. Hyde's behavior. But in view of Mr. Hyde's ownership of the majority of the capital stock, it is an injudicious act to demand his resignation. Unless the control of the company is mutualized Mr. Hyde will before long come into possession of his stock and will be able to put in a board of directors of his own choosing. It is therefore a futile performance to ask for his resignation, and in view of the circumstances the meeting of the agents at all at this juncture was hardly wise. Inequitable as the arrangement may be, it is a legal fact that at present the control over the administration of $400,000,000 of assets is vested in a stock issue of $100,000, restricted to a dividend of 7 per cent. Every other issue is now comparatively trivial in comparison with the transcendent importance of carrying through the mutualization plan and giving the policyholders rights of control over the administration of their own property.

Mr. Hyde has recently been acting like a man who knows he is down in the mud himself, but is bent on bringing others down into the same mud. The charges he brings against President Alexander of participation in syndicate profits upon securities sold to the company are vigorously denied by the latter, who produces documentary evidence which certainly throws the burden of proof upon Hyde. It appears from correspondence which took place nearly a month ago and is now made public, that President Alexander then complained of the very transactions in which Mr. Hyde now seeks to involve him. There is nothing now left for any of the parties to do but to go to the bottom and tell everything they know. The washing of dirty linen in public will not be good for the credit of the company while it lasts, but so much is in the tub now that until every piece that anyone can think of is dragged out and brought to view no one will believe that the showing is complete and the worst is known.

The scandalous disclosures which are being made will go far with many people to confirm sensational charges which have been made to the effect that trust company annexes to life insurance management are the instruments by which inside rings make a rake-off upon investment of funds contributed by the policyholders. The letter of our staff correspondent which appears in this issue deals with this phase of the situation, and the explanations he makes are reassuring. Such connections may be legitimate facilities of decided value to large companies in finding productive investment for the immense revenues which they handle. It should be noted that the improprieties which have been disclosed in the Equitable management did not meet with indulgence, and the troubles which the society is now enduring are an incident of timely effort to stop such abuses. They are therefore no evidence of rottenness in the condition of the society, but are analogous to the efforts which a healthy organism makes to throw off an attack of disease. The magnitude of life insurance interests is such that their corruption would be a national calamity. It was for the purpose of gauging the situation that The Gazette has had the special studies made which are now appearing in our columns and which give calm and impartial statements which will promote intelligent appreciation of the case.

License List and Rules.

In connection with the license list the court has handed down important regulations. The most interesting of these is the requirement that licensees who hold public office shall resign, or be prepared to relinquish their liquor business after sitting of the next court. This ruling, though drastic, is proper. The court has also met the constant query about the "free lunch" by laying down the rule limiting it to crackers and cheese or pretzels, and has made the instruction positive that no presents or premiums shall be given with liquors.

Reasons for limitation of the free lunch are not quite as plain as those for prohibiting saloonkeepers from holding public office. They require a little explanation. All venders pay the same license fees for the same privileges. The more opulent saloons, however, can afford more elaborate lunches and thereby tend to cause an unequal distribution of patronage. On this principle is based the court order that all lunches shall be simple, though many persons argue it would be to the advantage of the public if a full meal should be given with every drink.

There is food for thought in the proceedings of the license court and apparent arguments both in favor of and against continuance of the present system. Thus the court has shown wise discretion that could not be expected from a commission and that should not be allowed in one. On the other hand the creation of a commission would imply the application of rigid requirements and the elimination of judicial discretion and judicial worry.

The Election in Cuba.

"Cuba for the Cubans" is to be chief issue in the campaign now under way on that island for the nomination and election of a president. There has been a growth of the radical sentiment since President Palma, who is a Conservative, was elected and its leader is Jose M. Gomez. The representative assembly has been carried by the radical party and has caused the president some embarrassment, and now efforts are to be devoted to the election of a president less friendly to American influences. The opponents of the government desire to float another loan for the payment of the participants in the revolution, and they wish to put an end to the introduction of American methods in trade to the exclusion of Spanish custom.

President Palma, on the other hand, has attempted to strengthen the government by adopting modern ideas and has favored plans for the sanitary improvement of the island. He has shown an excellent grasp in the details of administrative work. It is thought Palma can count on the support of the two central provinces of Havana and Mantanzas, and the western province of Pinar del Rio, for it is in these that sugar, tobacco and other industries under foreign control especially flourish. The voting strength of the other three provinces is in the minority. There is some disaffection toward Palma in those on which he especially relies. The result will be watched with interest by the United States, for the success of our attempt to train the new republic will depend somewhat on the result.

Col. Hall has been selected to lead the Democracy through another campaign. Pennsylvania Democrats are able to recognize prosperity when they see it and Col. Hall has done nothing to discontinue the Republican brand.

Some people are wondering what a "bob-cat" is, since the president shot one. If any of the inquirers should meet one accidentally they would know it was not a tame cat.

If Councilman Roenigk can find a way to tax the public service corporations on their gross receipts and put it in force he will earn the gratitude of a long suffering public.

PITTSBURGH SUBURB.

Independence, Kansas, Appeared as Such to Eastern Writer.

Independence is the center of the Kansas oil fields and of the agitation which resulted in the recent trust-beating. It occupies very much the same relative position to the oil fields further south in Oklahoma and the Indian territory that an army's base, where the land is conquered and paying tribute, does to the firing line and the sappers and engineers. All the most exciting oil war dispatches in the papers of Northern Kansas appeared to be under Independence date lines. On the way thither oil derricks lined the horizon like rows of Lombardy poplars, pipe lines ran along beside the tracks or trailed over the backs of distant hills, so that I was a bit disappointed to find it, on arriving there on a warm Sunday afternoon, like any decorous Illinois or Wisconsin town where every native male had his best girl out buggy-riding.

All the people in Independence who don't go buggy-riding seem to come from Pittsburgh. The rush is past there, the piped wells are pumping quietly, and oil has become a matter of shares and dividends. * * * Next to us at the supper table that evening was a young man, vaguely urban, who ate with most excessive concentration, not speaking or looking up. He was the sort of young man who might spend his entire youth doing all the unpleasant jobs which his millionaire patron has to have somebody do for him, and at 30 find himself held up to young America as an example of astuteness and industry, with a pasty complexion, nerves all gone, and a salary of $500,000 a year. The first time he spoke was when he looked up sharply, and in the most casual manner in the world said, "Hello" to a man who sat down at our table, and whom he hadn't seen since they were in Pittsburgh three months before. * * * The other tables were full of men—promoters, real estate agents, oil and gas experts—business men rather than pioneers. Somehow they didn't seem to belong to Kansas. In the office they were reading Pittsburgh and Cleveland and Cincinnati papers. I walked down the street to the news stand in the little postoffice. There were the papers from Pittsburgh again, side by side with those from Wichita and Kansas City. "There must be a good many people from Pittsburgh here," I said to the young woman in charge, assuming an air of light good humor. She fixed a look upon me in which reproach was mingled with hauteur.

"I am from the east, too," she said.

It began to be depressing. Independence seemed like a sort of Pittsburgh suburb.—Collier's Weekly.

No Breakfast Habit Passing.

The "no-breakfast" fad has lived about as long as the average health fad, and while it is not dead yet, it may be said to be passing. The "doing without" habit seems to be firmly fixed upon those who give much thought to the effect of diet, and so luncheon is getting to be a thing of the past with them. By slow degrees this came about, the meal usually being cut to its smallest proportion before being neglected altogether. Probably this wrinkle will endure for a time, and then the going without dinner cult will arise, after which, perhaps, these seekers after health will come back into the ranks with the great majority and live by the "three square" rule upon which our ancestors flourished.—Boston Transcript.

Lien on Gravestones.

Among the many remarkable acts of the Maine legislature, recently adjourned, was the passage of a law establishing a lien on gravestones, by which the marble-worker may, within two years from the erection of the stone, take possession of the memorial in satisfaction of any sum that may at that time remain unpaid. When the law was under consideration in the legislature it attracted very little attention, but now that it has been passed there has arisen a great storm of protest.

Hours for Bakers.

The 10 hour day may be an excellent thing for the baker's trade. We have reason to believe that unwise business methods and unreasonable demands on the part of consumers, or an erroneous belief of such demands on the part of dealers, leads to unnecessary long hours in bakeries. The court's work is done. Baking hours are now once more as they should be, a matter of agreement between workers and employers. The question is no longer legal, but social and economic.—New York Tribune.

No Longer Needed.

Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio announces his intention to retire from public life at the expiration of his present term in congress. He probably thinks the Republicans are so strongly intrenched in office that it will be wholly unnecessary for him to do any future figuring.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By Frank A. Parker.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 19.—Rider Haggard, novelist, who came to this country several months ago to investigate colonies and report to the British colonial office, with his daughter, and Booth-Tucker, former head of the Salvation Army in this country, who was sent here to show the army's colonies to Mr. Haggard and explain the system, sailed for Liverpool today on the White Star line steamship Majestic. In reply to a question regarding his opinion on municipal ownership, Mr. Haggard said that in this country, where there was so much freedom from tradition and freedom of thought as well as progress, it was not surprising to hear municipal ownership advocated.

"Municipal ownership has been tried in England," he said. "It has met with fair success. Of course the great weakness of the system, as applied to trams and other branches and plants, is that it can be used as a means of political preferment. For example, several men all vote one way and are successful. Then they can use the distribution of positions and the giving of work and contracts as a reward to those who are with them before they voted. This is the great weakness of the system, and I am of the opinion you may find it so in this country. It is a question which must be settled."

Following this the conversation got on the subjects of labor unions and socialism. Mr. Haggard did not attempt to explain the reason for what he said was a growing socialistic tendency in this country, but commented on the rapidity with which such ideas were gaining ground here.

"It certainly does show that there is something wrong," he said. "I do not believe there would be a spread of socialism, or any other form of discontent if the men had a chance to get back to the soil. If every man had his own ground and there was less over-crowding in the cities, there would be less to reform and less to improve."

Tenement Has Many Fever Victims.

Eight children have fallen victims of "spotted fever" in the tenement at 13 Little West Twelfth street. Five are dead and three are reported dying. One of the victims for whom there is no hope is the fourth and last child of Mrs. David Darder. The child is in the New York hospital, where its mother called today in search of news. "My other children, all of them, are dead, sir," she said to the attendant who led her to a bench. Her head was upon her breast when Mrs. James Frawley, also of 13 Little West Twelfth street—fateful number—was ushered into the room. Within a week meningitis has claimed two of Mrs. Frawley's four healthy youngsters. Still another lay ill unto death in the humble home, while a fever-racked child tossed and moaned upon a cot upstairs in a hospital ward.

Call It "Joy of Living."

Bodily rhythm, or the "joy of living," is what Prof. Charles Farnsworth of the Teachers' college calls the newest fad in the fickle world of physical culture. But whatever it is, more than a thousand persons went to the Columbia university gymnasium this afternoon to see an exhibition of it. It is a revival of fancy dancing from all nations, past and present, and the idea of applying these dances to the new school of education has taken strong root in nearly every school and college in the United States within the last year. Even the universities have taken it up, and it is likely that Yale, Harvard, Columbia and other institutions will turn out annually in future their educated foot classes.

St. Marys Ready for Cruise.

After being in dry dock for almost a month and undergoing repairs which cost the board of education nearly $12,000, the schoolship St. Marys is ready to go into commission. The itinerary for her coming cruise has already been issued by Commander Hanus. The old ship will leave the pier at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street next Wednesday and will proceed to Glen Cove. A few weeks will be spent there acquainting the embryo sailors with the technicalities of their work, after which they will have a practice cruise on the sound. The ocean cruise will start from New London about June 6, and the first stop will be made at Queenstown.

Policeman Saves Flatiron Building.

With all the efficacy of the proverbial millstone, Policeman T. J. Lang of the East Twenty-seventh street police station tied himself around the neck of a runaway horse in front of the Flatiron building today, but with quite the contrary effect, for he prevented it from casting itself into a big plate glass window and innumerable cigars and other things appertaining to smokers. Previously the animal had displayed antics similar to a dog attached to the front end of a string of tin cans, for in its dash up Broadway it had become entangled in a rope fence established by Police Commissioner McAdoo to help his men regulate traffic in the neighborhood, and had clattered up the street with several lengths of first-class hemp rope dangling behind it.

Objects to "New York Justice."

Henry O. Havemeyer, accompanied by a son and daughter, sat for more than an hour in the Harlem police court today waiting for the arraignment of Achille Jacquard, driver of Mr. Havemeyer's automobile, for speeding in Central park. On Mounted Policeman Frank McNulty's complaint that the chauffeur was speeding at the rate of 18 miles an hour, Magistrate Mayo fined the chauffeur $100. He paid the fine. Mr. Havemeyer was disgusted with the whole proceeding. When his driver rejoined the party Mr. Havemeyer said: "I do not believe the driver was speeding at the rate named. We had no chance to explain matters. We were not asked to. However, that is New York justice."

If Chicago makes a success of municipalization, even on a paper showing, he would be a courageous prophet who would venture to say that New York would not quickly discover large advantage in municipal competition with what it could not municipalize.—New York Tribune.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By Erasmus Wilson.

So you are happy what's the difference? It would make a lot of difference if your happiness depended upon wrong-doing or caused discomfort to others.

But happiness never comes through wrong-doing, nor by making others unhappy. As soon expect to get sweet water from a bitter spring, or to find sunshine in a dark place.

You may be able to get enjoyment of a kind through wrong-doing, or at the expense of others, but never happiness. Nor will such enjoyment be lasting or helpful.

The drunkard gets enjoyment of a kind through indulgence in his cups, but happiness never.

It is so written in the law of life. This law being eternal can neither be repealed nor amended.

Those who thrive by taking undue advantage of others, are never happy, although they may prosper in a material sense, and seemingly enjoy life, yet they haven't that peace of mind and rest of soul that is born of a clear conscience.

It is for this reason that happiness cannot be thrust upon us. It must be acquired through our own efforts.

While you cannot thrust happiness on another you can greatly assist in leading others into ways that lead to happiness.

When one has lost his way and is traveling toward a desert place you may not be able to bring him a garden of peace and prosperity, but you may point out to him the paths that lead to such gardens, and if he be faint and weary you may lend him a helping hand and encourage him to seek and to follow the ways that lead to peace, rest and happiness.

All along life's way there are shelters and shrines for pilgrims, and monitors and guides for those who are uncertain as to the right ways in which to go. In the shelters the weary may find rest, and before the shrines they may offer prayers and thanksgiving.

Thus it is possible for all intellectual people to keep in the ways that lead to happiness.

Monitors and guides cannot bring happiness, but they can point out the ways and give advice and instruction that will be helpful.

Everywhere all over this fair land of ours, in city, hamlet and countryside we find shelters and shrines, and monitors and guides. We call the shelters and shrines churches, and the monitors and guides preachers. Of these there are many, enough it would seem to guide and admonish all pilgrims on life's journey, even though they are legion.

And yet there is much unhappiness, much wrong-doing, much wrong-going.

Is it because wayfarers will not be admonished?

* * *

Dear Mr. Quiet Observer:—In your Saturday's paper you expressed a desire for the public to tell you why men do not go to church.

I am not a man, but I will tell you what I think of the subject.

Twelve years ago last March I joined church, not because I was talked into it like some people are, but because I felt that everyone ought to go to church and try to be good, for none of us can be too much so. Sin besets us on all sides at all times, and we need to guard against it.

Now I am not one of the kind that wants to be made of or I would long ago have quit going to church. Would you believe it that in all that time my pastor has only been in my home once, and really I don't think he knows my name, for when he shakes my hand after service on Sunday morning I have never heard him mention my name.

Still I go to church every Sunday, for I don't go to be made of. With some people that doesn't do. You must make them feel at home and try to interest yourself in them. I know lots of men who quit their work at some places because of the treatment they received. How could it be otherwise in church, for that is where you go to receive help and strength to keep you on the right road. But when you get no help or encouragement, unless you have strong will power, you are easily discouraged. And it is so easy to stay at home and say you will never be missed.

Another thing I don't believe in are these annual revivals. While they are going on in the church you receive great attention, but as soon as they are over you are so often passed without even a glance. Taking all these things into consideration I think that is why so many people stay away from church.

I think it is the pastor's duty to visit his flock instead of sending his aids, for when you need spiritual advice and comfort you don't want it second hand.

Tell the pastors to wake up and visit their flock, get acquainted with the members and let them feel they are known.

A CHURCH MEMBER.

Mr. Quiet Observer:—In the columns of The Pittsburgh Gazette you have invited answers to the query "Why do so many persons stay away from church?" Your point is well taken about professed Christians being less ready to manifest Christian fellowship than in the days of Tertullian, when he exclaimed, "Behold those Christians, how they love one another!" It may be often from thoughtlessness or timidity that many churchgoers refrain from speaking or extending the right hand to a stranger. Not a few strangers hurry out of church without allowing any one a chance to say "how d'ye do." Some such absent-minded individuals have been known to complain of the coldness of church people and spreading this calumny. No one can tell how such a calumny is sure to spread.

Many shun going to church because they think they are good enough already and do not need to be told their duties. Such persons forget the many precious promises in the Bible to those who assemble in His "House of Prayer for all People." With this in view Jesus before His ascension to Heaven said to His followers, "Lo! I am with you always unto the end of the world." This makes it the incumbent duty of everyone who has the Bible within reach to fulfill their part in keeping this religion during each person's lifetime as a sacred inheritance to be handed down from generation to generation.

Many men are flippant enough to say "I have no need of preaching; I am good enough already." That might be so if there was no devil to fight, no subtle temptations to resist, and no personal weakness whatsoever to be overcome. Every humble minded man must admit some personal imperfections. The great question for every individual of the human race is "What think ye of Christ? Either He was what He professed to be, the God-man who thus voluntarily took on himself our nature in order to emancipate all of mankind who were willing to come to God for pardon and cleansing from sin (with its attendant sense of misery.)"

There are too many random guesses about religion and far too few sincere inquiries after the truth. Christ himself instituted the sacrament of holy communion as a perpetual ordinance to be kept up at stated intervals until He comes to judge the world at the last day. It is a precious privilege to us laymen to have a place of worship to go to on God's own established holy day to join in the service of prayer and song in the house of God's appointment, also to be educated as much as we are able in the precious truths, as the most pious and God-fearing people always have been in the habit of doing.

Verily our responsibility for making the best use of those privileges is too serious to be trifled with, lest the Almighty ruler of this world should feel insulted. DELTA.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Incidents in Public Careers.

The late Thomas L. Clark, bishop of Rhode Island, widely known as a wit and scholar, in his own home life in Providence preferred the utmost simplicity compatible with comfort. Having on one occasion a distinguished English divine as a visitor, the latter was considerably impressed, not to say astonished, at the lack of ceremony observed in the Episcopal mansion, and upon retiring hesitatingly inquired if he should leave his shoes outside his door. "Certainly, if you like," replied the bishop, with cordiality; "nobody'll touch 'em."

An amusing story is going the rounds of diplomatic society in Berlin concerning Count Inouye, the polished and able Japanese minister in that capital, and Count von Buelow, the German chancellor.

"You must know, Count Inouye," Count von Buelow said, "that we Germans are beginning to be quite inordinately proud of the Japanese. You are the most apt pupils we have ever had. Your strategy is also German and so is your artillery. Nearly all your doctors have studied in Germany. You have even imitated us by inaugurating a social democratic movement in Japan."

"Most true, Count von Buelow," replied the Japanese minister; "but there is one thing we do not share with you."

"What is that?" the German chancellor was rash enough to inquire.

"Why the fear of Russia," dexterously rejoined the diplomat.—M. A. P.

Senator Lodge's sense of humor is a grim one, at least so avers a certain committee clerk in the senate.

One afternoon early in the present session there were a number of clerks engaged in a room just off that of the senior senator from Massachusetts.

All at once they were aware of the sudden appearance of the senator. His brows were wrinkled into the sternest of frowns.

"Who is it," demanded he in a peremptory tone, "that is smoking that cigarette?"

Whereupon the guilty man immediately began to apologize and threw away his smoke.

"Oh, it's you," said the senator with a half smile; "then I'll thank you to hand me one; there isn't a single cigarette in my room."—New York Times.

Col. John T. Mosley, a famous confederate scout in the civil war, now an efficient special agent of the department of justice, said one day in Washington, apropos of success:

"The other morning I met Blank, hurrying along in his brisk, energetic way, the hopeful light still shining from his eyes, and the confident smile still playing about his firm mouth.

"My heart went out in pity to Blank. He was a hard worker, a very hard worker, yet in everything he undertook he failed. Three times in the last 10 years Blank had failed in business.

"So I stopped the poor fellow, and shook him by the hand.

"'Blank,' said I, 'it is too bad. With all your push, you don't seem to succeed.'

"'I don't, eh?' Blank replied. 'Haven't I made a success of my several failures?'

"'And he hurried off to make, as he informed me, another fat deposit in his wife's name."—Kansas City Journal.

"Justice David J. Brewer," said a Philadelphian, "made an address not long ago at Haverford. After this address there was an informal little reception, and very interesting it was to hear the justice talk.

"A Haverford boy said to the learned man during a lull in the conversation:

"'Will you please tell me, sir, what is the extreme penalty for bigamy?'

"Justice Brewer smiled and answered:

"'Two mothers-in-law.'"—New York Tribune.

In an old-fashioned, red painted house in the village of Chappaqua lives Evangeline Booth, the new commander of the Salvation Army. She has leased the house for a year and a half, and there, with her secretary, her dogs and her adopted children, she lives a quiet rural life.

Possibly the most interesting members of the family are the children, three in number, who are being brought up by the Salvation Army leader. One of them lost his mother in the railroad wreck that killed the wife of Commander Booth-Tucker. A second was picked up here in New York, and the third is a waif whose home was in Chappaqua.

Eighteen dogs form another lively factor in the Booth menage. Irish terriers, St. Bernards and English bulls are among the number. Miss Booth drives a good deal, and several of the dogs generally form an escort on these occasions.

Miss Booth maintains the strictest seclusion when in her country home. In fact, there is a rule that no one of her staff shall give any information as to her place of residence—a rule that not even the highest of her officials dares to break. For the new leader is said to be a disciplinarian of a stricter sort than the late army commander.—New York Sun.

Some years ago he passed several weeks in a Maine country town. The next season he received a letter from his boarding mistress asking him to return. In reply he stated he should be glad to pass another summer vacation with her, but should require some changes.

"First," said the college president, "your maid Mary is persona non grata. Secondly, I think the sanitary conditions would be improved about your house if the pigsty could be moved a little farther from the house."

President Tucker was reassured when he received the following reply: "Mary has went. We ain't had no hogs since you were here last summer. Be sure and come."—Boston Herald.

Another Standard Oil Indictment.

Old fishermen in Southeastern Kansas curse the day that oil was discovered there. Fish prefer pure water to a mixture of oil and water to live in. Most of the streams in the oil belt carry almost as much oil as they do water. The fish have all sought other climes and the fishermen are out of jobs.—Kansas City Journal.

Should Be Property of Nation.

Niagara should be the property of the nation. The continued efforts made in New York, despite the outbreak of popular opinion and indignation on the subject, to spoil the magnificent cataract by diverting its waters to commercial purposes, is a conclusive argument that one state should not have the power to rob America of one of the natural wonders of the world.—Baltimore American.

DENIES REBATES WERE GRANTED

Santa Fe Official Again Testifies Before Senate Interstate Commission.

SAYS LAW IS NOT ENFORCED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.

In reply to a number of questions from Senator Dolliver today Victor Morawitz, chairman of the executive board of the Santa Fe system, who again appeared before the senate committee on interstate commerce, officially denied the report that his road had given rebates to the Standard Oil Company in Kansas or the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. His denial of the allegation that the Santa Fe road had given the Standard Oil Company $1,000,000 in rebates was unqualified, and of the most emphatic nature, and his statement of the relations of the Atchison system to the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company showed the rates made to that company were not in the nature of rebates.

Mr. Morawitz discussed also Senator Newlands' proposition for the national incorporation and control of railroads in a very able and friendly manner. While he admitted that Senator Newlands' plan might be beneficial, he did not think it was practicable or would be satisfactory, either to the railroads or the people.

Mr. Morawitz made it plain that local conditions forced the railroads sometimes to apparently discriminate in favor of large cities. He showed how it would be impossible to give the smaller cities any service at all, unless the railroads secured the higher rates and that the traffic managers were only applying the same principles in the operation of railroads that business men did in the management of their concerns.

"If rates should be established in this country," Mr. Morawitz said, "strictly according to distance, the result would be to destroy three-quarters of the industries of this country. It would result in a commercial revolution. The tendency of railroads is to lower local rates and build up local territory. But local business is only about 25 per cent of the traffic of a road, while interstate business comprises the other 75 per cent."

When asked by Senator Dolliver why the interstate commerce law had not been more effective in preventing rebates and secret discrimination, Mr. Morawitz replied:

In my judgment the reason why these laws have not been enforced is that the interstate commerce commission has not seen fit to make any earnest endeavor to enforce them. It could have done so in many cases. There are a good many discriminations that are not secret. There is the practice of giving undue arbitraries on terminal rates, and giving undue mileage allowance to private car lines. The commission is aware of these discriminations and has not prosecuted any cases with energy in order to correct them.

"Wherever any tax controversy has arisen," said Mr. Morawitz, "the railroads have not been able to secure fair treatment. In Texas, where the matter is regulated by a state commission, we have been unable to float our bonds, because the security was not considered of sufficient value. In many instances where state commissions have tried to regulate our business, we have only been prevented from annihilation through the interference of the courts."

POSTMASTERS CANNOT ACT AS COUNTY CHAIRMEN

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 19.—An official circular will be issued soon by Postmaster General Cortelyou that will circumscribe the political activities of postmasters. This document will set forth that for the good of the service a postmaster should not act as chairman of a county committee.

This ruling will be made in response to a letter from the Pennsylvania Republican state committee. It appears that former Postmaster General Payne advised the Pennsylvania Republican state committee that there was no objections to postmasters being selected as delegates to the national convention and the purpose of the present inquiry is to ascertain whether a county chairman will be treated in the same manner by the postoffice department. It is understood that while Postmaster General Cortelyou will sustain his predecessor's ruling as far as being delegate is concerned that he will rule it is not advisable for them to act as the head of the county organization.

This action will not be based upon the grounds of offensive partisanship, but that the duties of a chairman have become so extensive it is feared they will interfere with the official duties of a postmaster.

CHINESE BANDITS TRY TO CUT THE RAILWAY

Russians Have Fierce Fight With Natives on the Harbin and Vladivostok Line.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HARBIN, April 19.—There was a determined attempt on the night of April 17 to cut the railroad between Harbin and Vladivostok, a formidable body of Chinese bandits making an attack near the station of Imyanpo, 100 miles east of Harbin. After a desperate fight which lasted several hours, the bandits were driven off and dispersed.

Many smaller companies of Chinese bandits are roving in the rear of the Russian army, but disappear when pursued. It is thought probable they are Manchurians, who scatter to their villages when they find themselves in danger.

There are various reports of wide-turning movements at Tsitsihar or eastward of that point, but as yet these rumors are apparently unfounded. The vigor of the skirmishes taking place on the left flank of the Russian army, however, seems to indicate the Japanese are planning to thrust northeastward and interpose a force between Harbin and Vladivostok.

TOKYO, April 19.—An official report from Manchurian headquarters says:

"A Japanese force advanced toward Tunghua, 30 miles east of Hsincheng, and occupied that place April 15. The enemy retreated to the north."

JAPAN TO RAISE ANOTHER WAR LOAN OF $50,000,000

Makes the Fourth in a General Scheme of Expenditure Whose Estimated Total Is $390,000,000.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 19.—It is learned here the Japanese government is about to raise another domestic loan of $50,000,000. The fact that this follows so quickly on the fourth domestic loan and the issue of the $150,000,000 foreign loan in London and New York, has led to an explanation from official sources, designed to correct any misapprehension.

The projected loan is part of the whole general scheme of war expenditures, estimated at $390,000,000, appropriated by the Japanese parliament in the budget for the present fiscal year. The new loan has been arranged for by agreement with bankers, made last March, to supply $100,000,000. It is further explained that in preparing its financial scheme the Japanese government has purposely divided the loans with special reference to the periods of subscription and the monthly war expenses.

Attention is called to the fact that the foreign loan is intended to maintain the specie reserve for trade purposes, and only the domestic loan is to meet the war expenses.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER IS NOT A CRUEL FOE

WASHINGTON, April 19.—"Not once, but many times has Gen. Kuropatkin ordered his troops to treat Japanese captives and wounded not as enemies, but as brothers. These orders have been obeyed. They will continue to be obeyed. That Baron Kaneko, the active Japanese gentleman, whom I do not know, should have so low an estimate of the intelligence of the American public as to tell such unfounded stories of cruel treatment of Japanese prisoners as he has been credited with relating, is a matter of astonishment to me."

Such was the comment made by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, today in regard to the speech made by Baron Kentaro Kaneko last Friday at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Mason Davidge in New York city, to raise funds for the widows and orphans of Japanese soldiers. Count Cassini declared he would not let the accusations pass unnoticed, and said:

"With the Russian armies are American officers, acting as military attaches. There also are newspaper correspondents, representing the American press. These gentlemen are granted facilities for seeing what is going on. They are not constantly guarded and barred from a view of the operations as is the case in the Japanese armies. Is it not strange that some of these gentlemen, disinterested as they unquestionably are, have not mentioned something of the cruelties described by Baron Kaneko?

"The answer is obvious. No such cruelties have occurred or will occur. The Russian soldier is not by nature cruel. He has no desire to wilfully injure those who fall helpless into his power."

REPUBLICANS HEAR REPORTS

Chairman Ford Calls Conference, and Political Situation Is Found Encouraging.

STATE DELEGATES TO MEET

Thomas J. Ford, Republican county chairman, left for Atlantic City yesterday, where he expects to spend a week. Before going Mr. Ford called a conference of several Republicans and it was held yesterday afternoon. The object was to learn the condition of the party organizations in all the legislative districts.

Those who attended the conference were Thomas Ford, City Chairman M. G. Leslie, John H. Henderson, chairman of the Allegheny City executive committee; L. L. Davis, vice chairman of the county committee and chairman of the Sixth legislative distrit association; D. L. Gillespie, William Flinn and George T. Oliver.

"We went over the situation in the entire county," said Mr. Ford after the meeting. "Reports received by me relative to the situation in the country districts were gone over and reports were made of the situation in Allegheny and Pittsburgh by legislative districts. There was a general discussion as to the best plans for strengthening the organization wherever it may need strengthening. There is little to be done toward strengthening the organization. It is in fine condition; the workers are enthusiastic and will give a good account of themselves. The situation was never better. The attendance at the legislative district conventions which elected delegates to the state convention was noteworthy. Although there was no contest for state delegates nearly every precinct in every district was represented by a delegate.

"Was 'political harmony with the Citizens party' discussed at the conference?" Mr. Ford was asked.

"It was not. Harmony seems a long way off."

The delegates to the state convention will meet at the Republican headquarters in Grant street on Saturday at 2 p. m. in the absence of Chairman Ford, Vice Chairman L. L. Davis will call the delegation to order. It will organize by electing a chairman, who will be its spokesman on the floor of the convention. Senator P. C. Knox will probably be chosen. At Saturday's meeting preparations for the trip to Harrisburg will be completed.

The remodeling of the Tariff club's new headquarters in Grant street is being pushed to completion. The club has moved into the building but the restaurant is not running. The remodeling of the house will cost $10,000, and the formal opening will be on May 10. The club has leased the building for seven years.

PLANS FOR THE UNION IS NOW COMPLETED

Pittsburgh Commercial Federation Project Is Given a Good Start.

Much progress was made last evning in the formation of the "Pittsburgh Commercial Federation." At a meeting at the Hotel Henry a complete set of plans was reported by the committee named at the first meeting a couple of weeks ago for this purpose, and the 13 repreeintatives of nine different organizations present accepted the plans.

The committee reporting the plans consisted of L. C. Beatty, John A. Harbaugh and Chauncey Lobingier. The name "Pittsburgh Commercial Federation" was accepted and the membership was limited to organizations having 50 or more members. For such organization there will be three representatives or delegates to the federation and the entire delegation will act as a board of directors. The officers will be president, two vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer.

At last evening's meeting J. W. Wardrop, secretary and general manager of the Merchants and Manfacturers' association, presided as temporary chairman and Chauncey Lobingier, secretary of the Pittsburgh board of trade, was secretary. The representatives present from each organization were:

Merchants and Manufacturers' association, J. W. Wardrop and Charles H. Ogden; Pittsburgh board of trade, S. A. Dickie and Chauncey Lobingier; Oakland board of trade, C. H. Chance and W. H. Stevenson; Homewood board of trade, John A. Harbaugh; Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights board of trade, T. F. Ashford; Lawrenceville board of trade, J. F. Petgen; Merchants and Professional Men's association of Bloomfield and Penn avenue, H. E. Juergens; Eighteenth ward board of trade, Henry D. Fulton; North Side board of trade, William Dice and L. C. Beatty.

ATTENDANCE INCREASING.

Greater Interested Is Daily Being Manifested in Pure Food Show.

Lessons in Cooking.

The attendance at the Pure Food show last night was greater than it has been at any time during the week. There is every indication that by next week the big hall will be too small to hold the people. Whatever doubt there may have been that the show will not be an annual affair for the association from this on was dispelled last night when the members of the committee and of the association in general looked over the hall, and watched the visitors, busy sampling this and that food product at the various booths.

The musical program prepared by Lieut. Peter Dannhardt for last night was an attractive one. The Lone Star quartet, in vocal selections, also came in for considerable applause. Two Indians connected with the exhibit of the Twentieth Century Soap, Little Bear and Running Deer, gave war dances on the stage last night. Their efforts were loudly applauded.

The work of fitting up a model kitchen on the stage of the big hall will be started this morning. Cooking school lecturers will give demonstrations each afternoon.

LOW PRICE FOR CHERRIES.

First Box Brings Only Small Sum for the City's Poor.

The auction sale of the first box of cherries to reach Pittsburgh proved a disappointment to the fruit dealers yesterday. The nine pounds of fruit brought only $12.50. A. Barclay being the purchaser.

The bidding started at $5 and went up in 50-cent stages. The Italo-American Produce Company had received the box from Lee Gates to auction, as is the annual custom. Last year the first box brought $25. The bidding yesterday was not as lively as could have been wished.

Nan Patterson's Fate Again Will Rest in Hands of Husbands and Fathers.

IS PLEASED WITH SELECTION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 19.—The jury which is to decide the fate of "Nan" Patterson, on trial for the third time on the charge of murdering "Caesar" Young, a bookmaker, was completed at 7:40 o'clock tonight when Recorder Goff adjourned court until next Monday morning.

Miss Patterson is to again face a jury composed almost entirely of married men, only two being single, one a bachelor, the other a widower. Most are men of middle age and beyond. Many of them have large families, some married daughters. The personnel of the jury is as follows:

Lovell M. Aldrich, foreman, 48 years, manager; John H. Splint, 63, merchant; Julius Goldstone, 38, cloak manufacturer; Newcomb C. Barney, 60, interested in mines; Francis Vail, retired merchant; Eberhard L. Luder, 37, sugar importer; Walter W. Tinsley, 49, coal merchant; Preston W. Lynn, 37, business manager, bachelor William F. Neibuher, 58, retired builder; Robert Martin, 61, merchant; Davis May, 45, merchant; William J. Murphy, 43, cashier, widower.

It was announced tonight the defendant will take the stand again during the present trial. It is also said that Miss Patterson is anxious her sister, Mrs. J. Morgan Smith, should become a witness for the defense, although it has not been determined yet either by the prosecution or by the girl's lawyers what part the J. Morgan Smiths shall play.

Miss Patterson had a little chat with her father and was then led back to her cell in the tombs. Her counsel declares the girl is well pleased with the jury.

TO DISCUSS UNITY.

Two Allegheny Congregations of Different Denominations May Consolidate.

A joint committee of the congregations of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal and First Congregational churches of Allegheny, will meet in Trinity church this evening to discuss uniting the congregations.

If present plans are realized both congregations will worship in Trinity church, and should the union be effected, it is believed it will have great bearing on the unity of both denominations, which has been under discussion for some time. The Rev. J. Upton Evers is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Rev. L. H. Ruge is pastor of the Congregational congregation.

HOLD REUNION.

Scholars and Alumni of First Presbyterian Sabbath School Celebrate.

A reunion of the alumni, scholars and teachers of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church was held in the new church in Sixth avenue last evening. Among those present were men and women who were scholars in the Sunday school over half a century ago.

William C. Lilley, who has been superintendent of the school for more than 20 years, delivered the principal address. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, delivered a short address, after which refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

BIG FIGHT OVER STREET REPAVING

War Upon an Independent Concern Bidding the Lowest on Asphalt Contracts.

FLINN RAISES A DISPUTE

A stiff fight is on between the representatives of what is known as the asphalt "trust" and an independent company in competing for the Pittsburgh repaving contracts of this year. The contracts are to be awarded next Tuesday and an independent concern, known as the Blake Maintenance Company of Cincinnati, is the lowest bidder, but the other companies, which represent the asphalt "trust," are attempting to prevent the Blake company obtaining the contracts.

The representatives of the so-called "trust" in the bidding are the Barber Asphalt Company and the Pittsburgh Asphalt Paving Company. The latter company is represented by Booth & Flinn. In the competition for about $100,000 of street asphalt repaving the Blake company underbid the other companies, but the other companies are retaliating by claiming the Blake company cannot furnish the particular kind of asphalt required. The specifications require that the asphalt shall be either Trinidad, Bermudez or Alcatraz. The Bermudez asphalt cannot be obtained at this time, because the government of Venezuela has taken possession of the Bermudez asphalt beds, which are in the delta at the mouth of the Orinoco river in Venezuela, and refuse to give them up, even upon the demand of the United States government. The Bermudez beds are owned by the "trust," which is an American concern. The asphalt offered in the bidding is, therefore, restricted to the Trinidad and the Alcatraz.

The Blake company in underbidding its competitors says the Alcatraz asphalt can only be obtained from beds in Lower California. Now George H. Flinn, representative of the Pittsburgh Asphalt Paving Company, comes to Director Bigelow with the claim that the Blake company cannot furnish Alcatraz asphalt, because the beds are in the hands of the "trust," and have been closed for some time. The Blake company has furnished a sample of Alcatraz asphalt, but the city officials declare the Blake company will have to produce proof that the asphalt which it proposes to use is the real Alcatraz asphalt, and this the trust representatives claim the Blake company cannot do.

The matter will be decided on next Tuesday. The work is to be done under the direction of the bureau of construction, but the superintendent of another bureau of the public works department is said to represent the Blake company or to be working hard to secure for it the contracts in dispute.

The bid of the Blake company was $1.68 a square yard, which is several cents lower than the bids of the Barber company or the Pittsburgh Asphalt Paving Company. The contracts amount to between $90,000 and $100,000 for repaving of streets, where the pavement has worn out and must be replaced. The price is a radical reduction in the price of last year, when the lowest figures were $1.95 and $2 a square yard.

Two weeks ago a number of new asphalt paving contracts, aggregating over $75,000, went to the Barber company at $1.61 a square yard in competition with the Blake company, but this was for the paving of streets just opened. Repaving work is said to be more difficult, and this accounts for the difference between $1.61 and $1.68. The Blake company, beaten in this contest for the new streets, has made a deeper cut to get the repaving contracts, and its competitors have determined to prevent it getting the awards, although it is the lowest bidder.

HOLD A MASS MEETING TO IMPROVE THE SLUMS

Representatives of Leading Denominations and Civic Organizations Want Sanitary Laws Enforced.

Representatives of all leading denominations and of the Civic club and Kingsley House association to the number of 150, gathered in the rooms of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon to discuss the slum improvement question and suggest methods for making the thickly populated districts of the city sanitary and safely tenable. A large portion of those present were women.

E. Z. Smith of the Civic club presided and opened the meeting with a short address on the purposes of the gathering. The Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom, spoke of the conditions which prevail in the tenement house districts and suggested remedies. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Canevin declared that if the slums exist, we are not responsible for them, but knowing them to exist and not relieve them, holds us accountable for them.

Judge Buffington of the United States court, the Rev. G. L. Thurgood of the Christian church, the Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel of Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, Dr. Edward B. Bekel of the Allegheny County Medical society, H. E. Mathews of the Kingsley House association and others told of the necessity for improving conditions surrounding the tenement district, while State Factory Inspector Hugh O'Donnell told of the sweat-shop side of the slum question.

Resolutions were then presented and adopted, as follows:

Whereas, The citizens of Greater Pittsburgh assembled in this meeting realize thoroughly the dangerous, overcrowded and unsanitary condition of the congested districts of our city and desire to take steps looking towards the improvement of their condition,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to await promptly on the mayor of the city and the director of the department of public safety asking that the present tenement house law be enforced and that special instructors be employed to assist in the inspection and enforcement of the law.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to consider the practicability of having a permanent tenement house commission and of raising funds to employ a permanent secretary or actuary.

Resolved, That these committees report to a large meeting to be called as soon as possible to receive such reports and to further consider what means can be taken for the improvement of this vital matter.

The committees created by the resolutions will be announced shortly by Chairman Smith.

WRECKERS OF LORAIN BANK ARE SENTENCED

Kaneen and the Walkers Plead Guilty. Judge Almost Overcome, as Former is an Old Friend.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ELYRIA, O., April 19.—E. F. Kaneen, former cashier of the closed Citizens Savings bank of Lorain, today pleaded guilty to embezzling the funds of the bank and was sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary. H. B. Walker and Dana Walker, teller and bookkeeper respectively, of the bank, also pleaded guilty and were each sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary. Judge Washburn, in sentencing the prisoners, said it was the hardest task undertaken by him during his official career, Kaneen being a close and lifelong friend. The judge was almost overcome with emotion.

H. B. Walker requested that he be sent to the reformatory, owing to the fact that he was less than 30 years of age. This, however, the judge refused to do. Of the four indictments against Kaneen two were nolled. The indictments against the Walkers were also nolled. In pleading guilty, Kaneen admitted that he was entirely to blame for the Walkers' downfall.

The prisoners were taken to the penitentiary immediately after sentence was passed.

Boy Is Probably Murdered.

MAHANOY CITY, April 19.—James Fisher, aged 16 years, who was found on the highway near Morea late last night with a bullet wound in his head, died without regaining consciousness. The police officials believe that young Fisher was murdered.

MRS. H. S. BLAINE'S WILL IS FILED

RICE WANTS BIG DAMAGES

Attorney S. W. Childs placed on record in Register Stengel's office a copy of the last will and testament of Mrs. Harriett Stanwood Blaine, widow of James G. Blaine, this action being necessary owing to the fact that about $50,000 worth of property left by the decedent is in this state. Mr. Childs is made ancillary administrator.

Mrs. Blaine died July 15, 1903, at Augusta, Me., and shortly afterwards her will was probated. She directs that certain heirlooms and manuscripts be divided among her children and practically divides the whole estate among these heirs. A fund is to be given in trust to the executors, Margaret Blaine Damrosch, Harriett Blaine Beale and James G. Blaine, for some of the heirs. The executors and James G. Blaine Coppinger, Conor W. Blaine Coppinger and Emmons Blaine, grandchildren, are the heirs.

Gerhart R. Conswirt leaves an estate valued at $30,000 to his widow and children, the widow to get her one-third share under the law and to pay the balance to the children in case she remarries or dies.

John D. McFarland, late of Scott township, leaves his Masonic emblems and charts to his intimate friends and his children, dividing a small estate among the sons. Charles A. E. Tegge leaves an estate in trust for his children.

A suit for $25,000 damages for alleged false arrest was entered by Walter C. Rice against the Western Pennsylvania Amusement Company and its manager, G. S. McClain. He alleges that his being arrested ruined his business, broke up his home and injured his social reputation. The plaintiff alleged he was arrested on June 18, last, charged with stealing three billiard balls from the defendant company. He says he was acquitted of the charge, was rearrested and acquitted a second time. Rice says he was in jail 43 days, and during this time his wife had to go to her parents' home in Buffalo for support.

A bill in equity was filed by Edward J. Allen against David and Ella B. Kirk, asking the performance of a contract for the sale of some property in the Twentieth ward. An accounting is also asked with the defendants.

Simon Solaf entered a suit against Andrew Harrat for $5,000 damages. He alleged he was falsely arrested on a charge of larceny by bailee.

Decrees in divorce were granted as follows: Emma Kuehn vs. Carl Oscar Kuehn, Mary McHale vs. James McHale, Sarah Jane Althouse vs. George D. Althouse, Bertha K. Torrance vs. George Torrance, Rose C. Brown vs. John C. Brown, each on grounds of desertion, and Ida B. Shibler vs. George Shibler, on grounds of indignities.

AT THE THEATERS.

In Honor of the Passing of the Lenten and Holy Week Gloom Theaters Will Give Cheaper Bills.

The Rogers brothers in John J. McNally's new vaudeville farce, "The Rogers Brothers in Paris," will be the attraction at the Nixon next week. The Rogers brothers enjoy a very flattering reputation in this city and have a large following. This year the largest and most pretentious production in which the Rogers brothers have yet been seen is to be expected, and it is said that this anticipation will not be disappointed. The company will number 115 people. The scenery will be very elaborate and the costumes, it is said, will set up a new standard for productions of this kind.

"Trilby" will be revived in a splendid manner on the stage of the New Alvin theater, commencing Easter Monday afternoon, with an extraordinary cast, including every member of the Harry Davis stock company, together with Sarah Truax in the title role. The return to Pittsburgh of this favorite actress to the scene of her former triumphs is of itself an event of much importance to a large community of theater-goers, regardless of the play. Manager Davis in his effort to make the week a red letter event has secured the rights to the Du Maurier play. "Little Nell," "The Laird," "Taffy," "Geeko," "Zou-Zou," "Svengali" and "Trilby" will all be seen on the stage of the Alvin as though they had stepped from the pages of the novel.

The predominant spirit of "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," which will appear at the Gayety theater next week, is comedy, clean, healthful fun, without extravagant horse play or buffoonery, that appeals to intelligent people.

"Thelma," a melodrama dramatized from Marie Corelli's fascinating novel of the same name, will be presented for the first time in Pittsburgh by the Avenue dramatic company next week at the Avenue theater. The best version of the play will be used and the scenic equipment will surpass any melodramatic offering in the country.

Music in its lightest form, comedy in bubbles and beauty in voice and form come to the Duquesne next week in the appearance of Stella Mayhew and her big company in "The Show Girl," a musical concoction that is said to have made an immense hit throughout the country.

"Nobody's Darling" will be at the Bijou next week, commencing with Monday's matinee. This play is intensely human and there is nothing in it from the rise of the first curtain to the fall of the last one to offend the most fastidious.

In the play, "Kidnaped in New York," which comes to the Empire theater the week beginning Monday evening next, the rescue of the child from the kidnapers' den is given out as being most thrilling. The costumes and properties are said to be in keeping with the staging of the piece, while the company is a complete one.

One of the best burlesque shows on the road and one of the most popular at the Academy is the "Bohemians," which will be at this theater next week, with Happy Andy Gardner in the principal comedy role.

The bill arranged for the Grand Opera house next week includes the names of many entertainers. Among the headliners are Bert Leslie and Robert L. Dailey, in their laughing success, "Going Abroad." The Six Musical Cuttys will also be a headline feature. Edwin Stevens, the legitimate comedian, will contribute his artistic and amusing monologue, "A Night Out." Another laughable act will be that of the Three Keatons, which includes the inimitable boy comedian.

SCORES REPORT OF BIRD SLAYING

Dr. Holland Arrainges Game Commission Secretary at Trustees' Meeting.

RE-ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Secretary Joseph Kalbfus of the Pennsylvania state game commission, who last July reported to his commission that birds were being slaughtered in enormous quantities in violation of the state law under direction of officers of Carnegie museum, was roundly scored by Director Holland of the museum in his report, which was presented at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute held in the board room of the Carnegie Steel Company yesterday afternoon.

Covering the work of the departments in botany, entomology, mineralogy, paleontology, ceramics, graphic arts, and others, Dr. Holland followed with a full report on the collection of animals of all species and under the sub-division of "birds," stated:

It has been a matter of profound regret and cause for just indignation that Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the game commission of Pennsylvania, saw fit last July to present to that body a report filled to repletion with willful misrepresentations, in which he among other things charged the entire body of scientific men who compose the official staff of the museum with having "an utter disregard of the laws of their state for the protection of birds." He published to the world the preposterous statement that during a few months in the summer of the year 1903 two members of the staff of the museum had killed 40,000 birds at Presque Isle.

Compared to Munchausen.

This tale, worthy of the inventive powers of a Baron Munchausen, which he submitted to his superiors, without any intimation to the members of the staff of the museum that it was his intention to do so, led the game commission to refuse to all scientific men within the state permission to collect mammals, birds and their nests and eggs within the limits of the state. The trustees of the institute demanded a formal investigation of the charges of the secretary of the game commission, and at last, very tardily, after repeated and most persistent efforts to secure a hearing, an opportunity was given in Pittsburgh on December 15 in the office of William M. Kennedy, the president of the game commission of the state, to meet and refute the calumnies of the secretary. At this hearing the secretary failed entirely to substantiate any of his statements. The board of trustees then, under date of February 3, adopted a series of resolutions demanding of the game commission a finding in accordance with the facts and not in accordance with the report of their secretary. On the 16th of February the game commission adopted a resolution stating that they had "come to the conclusion that the authorities of the Carnegie institute have not wilfully violated the laws of this state and that the number of birds said by their representatives to be in their possession is not in excess of that required for scientific purposes."

This retraction was unfortunately not accompanied by steps which would allow the institution to continue its scientific work. It is to be sincerely wished that the laws of the commonwealth may be so amended as to allow such institutions as the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh and the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia and kindred learned associations to carry on their work without being exposed to petty and annoying vexations due to the meddlesome interference of incompetent subordinates, who do not appreciate the nature and purposes of scientific work. The issuing of licenses to take birds for scientific purposes should be placed in the hands of the state zoologist, as in many other commonwealths.

The work of the custodian of ornithology as a result of the blundering and untruthful activity of the secretary of the game commission, has been confined to arranging, cataloging and studying the collections which we possess.

The report showed the total value of the collections and furniture of the museum to be valued at $284,763 20. The amount of research carried on by the officers of the museum during the year was shown to have been extensive.

Officers of the board were re-elected for a three year term, as follows: President, W. N. Frew; vice president, Robert Pitcairn; secretary, S. H. Church and treasurer, J. H. Reed. Reports of officers and committees were heard and approved, while a letter from Julian Kennedy, declining the honor of acting on the board, owing to the fact that he could not give the work the required attention, was received with regrets.

For Founder's Day Celebration.

A committee consisting of Joseph R. Woodwell, E. M. Bigelow, George H. Clapp, R. B. Ward and S. H. Church was appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the Founder's day celebration.

The annual contribution of $100,000 from Andrew Carnegie was apportioned as follows: Fine arts, $49,000; museum, $43,000; contingency fund, $2,000. The report of the treasurer showed disbursements in the fine arts department to be $50,319 57 and $37,465 45 in the museum. A balance of $11,362 82 remains in the treasury.

Director A. A. Hamerschlag of the Carnegie Technical schools reported that 101 lectures bearing on the schools had been delivered during the year, at which 18,754 persons attended. The plans for the school provide 181 square feet of working space for each student. He told of the awarding of the building contracts for $499,700 and that work had been begun, and announced that the first building would be ready for use in the autumn. Applications for tuition have been received from 6,282 persons. Of the $1,000,000 already placed at the disposal of the schools by Mr. Carnegie, $50,700 56 has been spent.

Director John W. Beatty of the fine arts department offered an extended report, in which he told of the work of selecting casts for the great halls and galleries to be provided by the institute extension, and announced that they would be gathered from cities as widely separated as Athens and Berlin. He told of the annual art exhibition which cost $15,819 43, or $23 65 per painting.

HALL IS ELECTED STATE CHAIRMAN

Democratic Machinery Is Put in Motion at Harrisburg by Col. Guffey.

RULE TO PREVENT DEADLOCKS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
HARRISBURG, PA., April 19.

The Democratic state committee today did just what it was expected to do. In brief, its labors consisted of the re-election of State Chairman J. K. P. Hall; selecting Harrisburg as the place of meeting and May 24 as the date of the state convention; recommending the adoption of a rule to prevent deadlocks in district nominating gatherings, and authorizing the appointment of a committee of 15 to draft uniform primary election rules for the government of the party in the 67 counties of the state.

Col. J. M. Guffey came up from Atlantic City and saw to it that the party machinery was in working order. Capt. John B. Keenan of Greensburg balked a little on the rule to give the state executive committee power to break deadlocks, but was voted down. It was a trifle unusual to see him fighting anything Guffey wanted.

Allegheny county was represented at the meeting by W. J. Brennen, James A. Clark and Thomas B. Alcorn. Mr. Brennen made the speech nominating Hall for a third time as state chairman. The Pittsburgher tried to give the impression that Hall is making a great sacrifice by accepting. There was no opposition to Hall. Col. Guffey having smoothed out the men who were inclined to balk and demand the selection of a competent chairman.

Mr. Brennen presented an amendment to the state rules. It allows the state executive committee to break deadlocks in congressional, legislative and judicial conventions. If, in 56 days before the day of election no nomination has been made, the executive committee takes charge and selects a candidate. It was argued that this would prevent a reoccurrence of trouble similar to that experienced in the Twenty-sixth congressional district.

Ex-Congressman Green of Berks succeeded in having a resolution adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of 15 to draft uniform primary election rules for use in the state. The report is to be made to the state committee at its meeting in April, 1906. Chairman Hall appoints the 15 members and he does not need to confine himself to the roster of the state committee in making the selections.

The following division chairmen were chosen: First district, Dr. John Walter, Lebanon; Second, E. S. Doty, Bedford; Third, William J. Brennen, Pittsburgh; Fourth, W. H. Knelb, Erie; Fifth, W. C. Russell, Williamsport; Sixth, W. T. Creasy, Catawissa; Seventh, John F. Ancona, Reading; Eighth, D. J. Driscoll, St. Marys; Ninth, Charles P. Donnelly, Philadelphia. These men comprise the executive committee.

The state committeemen left here with the idea that Col. Guffey wants John B. Head of Greensburg nominated for superior court judge to succeed Judge P. P. Smith of Scranton. The colonel says that no selection has been made.

The selection of May 24 as the date for the state convention will cause the Allegheny county primaries to be held previous to that time. At these primaries the delegates will be chosen who will nominate James A. Clark for a fourth term as county commissioner.

You never find public interest aroused without printed publicity.

If the newspapers and other periodicals said nothing about an election or a great disaster, or a criminal trial, people would not be interested, and little would be said or thought about the occurrence.

The printing and illustrating of facts, together with a wealth of interesting detail, excites interest, fires the imagination and causes no end of talk. It is the same way in business. Goods that are not advertised are uninteresting. People don't talk about them and don't care about them. You can't expect to sell many goods to people who know little, if anything, about them.

The only way to instruct and interest the public is through advertising. The Saturday Evening Post can introduce you to 800,000 families, or a total of 4,000,000 people. Probably a large proportion of these people ought to use your goods. Can you expect them to do so unless you tell them why they should? Tell them every week in The Post.

GOLF SEASON OPENS ON LOCAL LINKS SATURDAY

Sweepstakes for Schenley Course and Medal Play Handicap at Pittsburgh Country Club.

The local golf season will begin Saturday next, when for the first time this spring summer greens will be used. Allegheny Country club is the only local golf organization which has been on summer greens, and there the course has been exceptionally fine.

Clubs to announce scheduled events for Saturday next are the Pittsburgh Country and the Pittsburgh Golf clubs. At the former there will be an 18-inch medal play handicap for a cup called the "good example cup," offered by the chairman of the green committee, W. Linford Smith. At the latter club there will be a members' sweepstakes.

For the following Saturday, April 29, there will be opening play on both the Oakmont Country club's course and on the Edgewood Golf club's links. A. C. Whitcomb chairman of the green committee of the latter club, announces that there will be on the opening day, April 29, match play against bogey for positions on the club team, six to qualify and four as substitutes. The second round will be played May 6. A prize will be awarded to the contestant having the lowest net score for the 36 holes. The club has engaged A. Goarley of St. Andrews, Scotland, as professional.

Many of Pittsburgh's golfers are engaged away on other links just now. Allegheny County club has entered R. P. Nevin, jr., David Baxter, E. M. Byers and J. P. Byers in Lakewood's tournament for next week. Garden City's tournament comes May 4, 5 and 6, and may get some Pittsburgh players. The Fownes will be at Lakewood. They were important factors in Atlantic City's recent tournament, where W. C. Fownes, jr., carried off first honors.

PRINCETON, April 19.—(Special.)—Princeton defeated Lafayette here today in an eleven-inning contest, 3 to 2. In spite of the closeness of the game, however, it was in most respects marked by very mediocre playing and the batting was often beneath criticism. The 11 innings stretched themselves with a deadly monotony that sent many spectators from the field, though the dullness was occasionally enlivened by brilliant hits of which Princeton made several, always when the bases were empty. Princeton Is on a Trip.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 19.—(Special.)—Princeton's baseball squad starts out on its annual southern trip tomorrow morning. It will compose 14 players and will be accompanied by Coach Hillebrand, Manager Griffith, Assistant Manager Johnson and Trainer Robinson. The team will meet Johns Hopkins at Baltimore tomorrow afternoon and the Walbrook Athletic club at Baltimore on Friday. Georgetown will be played on the 22d and 24th and the last game comes with the Baltimore Eastern league on the 25th. The nine will be absent from Princeton for six days. The following will comprise the squad: Capt. Wells, D. Doyle, Forsythe, Reid, Bard, Byram, Cooney, L. Doyle, McLean, Cook, Gray, Heim, Wister and Harlan.

WERE AT THE GAME.

Allegheny Found It Difficult to Attend to Business.

The opening of the baseball season was almost the means of putting Allegheny select council out of business. Although a meeting was scheduled for 8:30, it was ten minutes later before enough members had gathered to complete a quorum. Even then there were only eight of the 15 members present.

Director of Public Safety Thomas B. Seamon ordered two policemen under command of Lieut. John Boyd to report for duty at the ball grounds and then managed to slip away himself and watch the game. Other Allegheny officials were noticed among the spectators, and all were rooters for Pittsburgh, although not, necessarily, for "Greater Pittsburgh." Capt. Charles R. Taylor, in command of the marine corps, closed his office and gave his men an opportunity to witness the game.

WHAT THE INDEPENDENT PLAYERS ARE DOING

Managers Risher of Homestead, Seaton of Washington and Koehert of Waynesburg yesterday met and arranged games. The Pittsburg collegians will play at Washington June 23, at Waynesburg June 27 and 28, and at Washington June 29.

The Braddock players will report for practice this afternoon.

"Red" Calhoun has been appointed field captain of the Harrisburg team.

Pitcher John McCrane, who went south with the Athletics, has joined the Connellsville team.

There is a letter at this office for the manager of the McKeesport team.

EIGHTEENTH WARD SALE OF $50,000

A BIG DEAL IN HOMESTEAD

The largest deal announced from the Eighteenth ward for some time was the purchase a few days ago of the Joseph S. Wainwright property on the north side of Butler street, between the holdings of the Union Steel Casting Company and of the Consolidated Traction Company, for $50,000. The sale was made by the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, trustees for the Wainwright estate, and the buyer was Cameron C. Smith. The property is somewhat irregular in shape, having a frontage of 51 feet in Butler street, a depth of 326 feet along the traction lot to the Allegheny Valley railroad, 233 feet on the railroad and 296 feet along the Union Steel Casting Company's property.

Through the Aronson-Friedman Company the S. Linton holdings at 1412 Wylie avenue have been sold to Ira Aronson for $17,000 cash. The lot measures 22x124 feet on the south side of the avenue near Fulton street, and is improved with a three-story brick store and house which rent for $1,860 a year.

The Aronson Realty Company has sold for Lawrence Hufnagle to William Hackney the property at 2008-2010 Webster avenue for $12,000, the purchase being for an investment. The lot is 40x100 feet to an alley and has on it a brick store and house of 17 rooms on the front and a six-room frame house on the rear.

The deed was registered yesterday in the sale of the John Dalzell property on the north side of Penn avenue, near Tenth street, for $75,000. The lot measures 25x160 feet, and was bought several months ago by Harry Davis through the office of the Samuel W. Black Company.

A $30,000 Sale in Homestead.

Realty records in Homestead got a severe jolt yesterday when President A. C. Dinkey of the Carnegie Steel Company bought the property at 219-221 Eighth avenue for $30,000 or $750 a front foot. This is the highest price ever paid for property in this square and shows how the demand for business lots in the center of Homestead is increasing. The property purchased belonged to C. E. Espy and consists of 40x110 feet improved with two frame buildings. It is only a short distance from Amity street and will be considerably bettered by improvements now in progress near by. It is understood that Mr. Dinkey will raze the present buildings and erect in their stead a modern business structure.

The Homestead Realty Company yesterday bought from C. A. Alman three frame houses on lots 30x110 feet each in Market street, Homestead, for $10,500. The properties are between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets and rent for $25 a month each.

John W. Hanna bought from Mrs. Sarah Kiefer through the Braddock Trust Company a brick manufacturing building on lot 40x110 feet in Fourth street, North Braddock, for $5,700. The property is nearly opposite Copeland station.

Will Be Duplicate of Courts.

Dr. J. R. Morrow, president of the Continental Trust Company, is receiving subbids for the apartment house which he will build in Shadyside at a cost of $60,000. The building will be erected on a lot 70x175 feet on the north side of Center avenue, near Cypress street, and about two minutes' walk from the Shadyside station. It will be an exact duplicate of the Shadyside Courts which Dr. Morrow completed last fall. The buildings will be three stories high, of pressed brick and terra cotta, and will have tile floors, tile baths and steam driers. It will contain 15 suites of five and six rooms each and will be completed by October 1, in time for the fall renting season. Of the 19 suites in the Courts only one is now vacant, and the rental from those now occupied is $815 a month.

Another example of well-rented apartments is seen in the new Knickerbocker flats in East Diamond street, Allegheny, which have been handled by the Real Estate Trust Company. The suites are designed for bachelors exclusively, and everything is furnished from handsome furniture to bedding, towels and chamber service. It is said that the venture, which is the first of its kind to be tried in either city, is popular, for there are now only seven vacant rooms in the building, which contains over 40 suites.

Monthly Letter for Realty Men.

A very interesting and decidedly unique publication made its appearance yesterday in realty circles in the form of a monthly letter issued by Avey & Irish. This is the first time such an innovation has been tried by Pittsburgh real estate firms, although Pittsburgh financial brokers have used them for some time. The "market letter," as it is called, will contain each month a summary of real estate conditions from the standpoint of both the broker and the property owner. There will also be in each letter some careful observations on the mortgage market and comments on any features of the real estate market that seem to be attracting special attention. The first letter is spicy and interesting and the progress of the little sheet will be watched with much interest, for it aims to cover a field entirely new.

Since the announcement of the sale of the old Eagle cotton mill property at Robinson and Sandusky streets, Allegheny, to W. P. Fraser and J. W. Chesnright for $150,000, made Sunday, news of several large deals now pending for properties in the First and Fourth wards of Allegheny are becoming so numerous as to warrant the belief that big buyers are getting into the market. One sale of $50,000 was articled for yesterday through a firm of Allegheny brokers, but no details were given out. Two of the largest and most aggressive buyers on the North Side are known to have a deal under way that, if consummated, will cause fully as much comment as the one made last week. Fraser and Chesnright were offered a profit of $20,000 on their bargain Monday, and should the Greater Pittsburgh agitation have the effect it is expected to on Allegheny values the property will be cheap a year hence at $200,000.

Sales Made by Brokers.

Squirrel Hill: The Continental Trust Company sold for Dr. J. R. Morrow to Elizabeth S. Robison 50x150 feet in McClure avenue, near Beechwood boulevard, for $3,500; to George Dunbar a similar lot in the same street for $3,500; to W. B. Brown 40x125 feet in Alderson street for $1,500. The lots are from Dr. John R. Morrow's McClure avenue plan and will be improved. Dr. Morrow is now building an $18,000 residence on the plan at the corner of Beechwood boulevard and Tilbury street.

Wilkins place: The Wilson Realty Company sold for William A. Stewart to Ralph W. Miller of the Braddock National bank 60x120 feet in Travanion avenue near Braddock avenue, Wilkins place, for $1,650. The buyer will build a cottage home.

Allegheny: T. C. Allison sold for James B. Jones to Joseph Funfar 48x136 feet in Franklin avenue, Allegheny, for $1,400.

Bellevue park: The Real Estate Savings and Trust Company sold for the Allegheny Real Estate Improvement Company to George S. Hunter 40x100 feet in Watkins avenue, Bellevue park, for $1,000, and 40x100 feet in Dunbar avenue in the same plan for $1,000.

Sycamore street: George Mittelstadter sold to Eva C. Borland an improved lot, 22x153 feet, in Sycamore street, near Stanwix street, Thirty-second ward, for $3,000.

Grandview avenue: Anna C. Stange sold to Charles F. Mantz an improved lot 25x150 feet, in Grandview avenue, Thirty-fifth ward, for $4,500.

Sheridan place: W. J. Mahod sold to Samuel Young an improved lot 40x80 feet, on the west side of Sheridan place near Grafton street, Ninteenth ward, for $4,000.

Fifth avenue frontage in McKeesport took a big bound yesterday when the Peoples bank paid $100,000 for 80 feet at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Walnut street, to George W. Hartman and D. L. Clark, who purchased the property from the Hartman heirs three years ago for $160,000. The price paid by the bank people is $575 more than was ever paid for Fifth avenue frontage before. At the first transfer of the property $1,800 a foot was paid. Yesterday the price was $2,375. Three years ago Charles Reuben purchased a 120-foot frontage on the northwest corner for $140,000, or $1,166 66 a foot front. The property purchased by the bank extends back 120 feet to a point where it is proposed to open Jerome street from Tube Works alley to Walnut street. As soon as the leases of the present tenants expire, it is the intention of the bank people to construct a modern office building, the first floor of which will be the permanent home of the institution. The structure will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000. The leases will not expire until April, 1906.

Charles Haberman of Duquesne yesterday closed a deal for the purchase of the Grant hotel at Monongahela for $15,000.

The bureau of building inspection yesterday issued permits for the following: W. M. Gordon & Company, brick stable in Gibbon street to cost $3,000; S. N. Bauersmith, brick dwelling in Hampton street, $8,000; J. W. Mills, brick stable at Roup and Carroll streets, $2,000; J. A. Weil, brick dwelling in Bartlett street, $19,000.

Building permits were issued yesterday in Allegheny City to the following: Joseph Steuernagel, four-story brick storeroom, Ohio street, near Chestnut, $15,000; J. R. Marex, two-story brick dwelling, No. 95 Vista street, $5,000; F. J. Rost, two-story brick veneer dwelling, Wabash avenue, $5,000. To J. W. Ingold and C. L. C. Richardson permits were issued for each to erect a two-story frame dwelling in Lafayette street at a cost of $3,000 for each building.

The bidders were: The Ohio River Contracting Company, $286,321; the Baker Contracting Company, $287,284, the Dravo Contracting Company, $278,408. The bids are for building 500 feet of Channeline dam. STOCK MARKET RALLIED AND CLOSED HIGHER

Covering of Shorts Largely Responsible for the Upward Turn—Pittsburgh Coal Preferred the Strongest Local Stock.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

During the greater part of the morning session yesterday the New York stock market was nervous and weak. As was the case on Tuesday, the course of Northern Securities and Union Pacific dominated sentiment. Northern Securities lost 4 per cent in the early dealings, selling off to 167, and Union Pacific declined from 130⅜ to 128⅝. The action of these stocks was not explained by any reliable news, and the street construed the mystery as evidence of a continuation of friction between the two big financial interests. Foreigners, however, were purchasers on the decline, and as much of the selling had apparently been for short account, the market steadied about noon and during the remainder of the session steadily recovered.

A movement that helped along the recovery in the general list occurred in the southern group of railroad stocks, which became very strong, and more active than for some time past. Atlantic Coast Line rose from 157½ to 160¼, and closed at 160½ bid. There was a rumor that this company would guarantee 7 per cent on Louisville & Nashville, and the latter stock became active, advancing to 146¾, closing at a net gain of 4⅜ per cent. Southern Railway closed 1¼ per cent higher. Both these roads also had the benefit of large increases in gross earnings reported for the second week in April.

Covering of shorts became quite general in the railroad list during the last hour, and final prices average nearly 1 per cent higher than Tuesday's close. Union Pacific closed 1⅜ per cent higher. St. Paul 1 per cent, and Illinois Central 1½ per cent. Northern Securities closed at 172½ bid, the highest of the day.

Industrial stocks were relatively stronger than the railroads, and the ease with which United States Steel rallied was an important influence. United States Steel preferred, which had declined to 102¾ in the early dealings, rallied 2 per cent to 104½ and closed with a net gain of ⅛ per cent. The common closed ⅝ higher. American Locomotive was active and strong, advancing 3 per cent to 59½ on a report that the company had closed a contract with the Baltimore & Ohio for the largest order for equipment so far placed this year. Other members of the iron and steel group rallied sharply and closed near the highest prices of the day.

Amalgamated Copper rallied during the early part of the day to 88¼, later declined to 86⅜ and closed at 87, a net gain of ½ per cent. The decline was based upon a bulletin issued by Mr. Lawson in Boston, announcing that he would give one-eighth of 1 per cent for the privilege of delivering 250,000 shares Amalgamated Copper at 80 up to 11:20 o'clock Friday morning. The directors of the company are scheduled to meet this afternoon to take action on the quarterly dividend, and there will be no market on Friday and Saturday, so that Mr. Lawson's offer could hardly be regarded as made in good faith. It served the purpose, however, of testing sentiment on the stock pending the action on the dividend and over the long holiday.

Call loan rates remained easy at 2½ to 3 per cent, and while it is possible that today's rates may be a little higher, because loans will carry over until Monday, there is as yet no uneasiness on account of the future of the money market.

The 2-cent decline in May wheat in the Chicago market could not be said to have had any influence in Wall street. Primary receipts, however, were 150,000 bushels larger than for the corresponding day last year.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred was the most active and at the same time the strongest stock in the regular list on the local exchange yesterday. It opened firm at 75⅝ and advanced to 76, the final sale of the day. The common stock was less active, but closed firm at 18. Crucible Steel common and the National Fire Proofing issues were firm and a fraction higher, while Crucible preferred closed a shade lower at 64½. The Westinghouse stocks were dull and barely steady. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas declined to 59½, a new low mark, but recovered to 60. There was a fair demand for the Brewing issues, but no important change in prices. Harbison-Walker Refractories 5s sold at 104, the highest ever quoted, and a net advance of 1 per cent over the last previous sale. Colonial Trust was in demand and firm at 400, and a small lot of Industrial National bank sold at 125.

Northern Securities declined to 167 and recovered to 172½.

Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville scored big gains.

Steel preferred declined to 102¼ and rallied to 104½.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Shortly after the close of the stock market yesterday it was announced that the governors of the New York stock exchange had voted to close the exchange on Saturday as well as on Good Friday. This was a reconsideration of action taken earlier in the week in which the governors decided against a long holiday, but was in response to a practically unanimous petition of the brokers in favor of closing. As a result of this action there will be no market for New York stocks from the close at 3 o'clock this afternoon until 10 o'clock next Monday morning. The effect upon today's market is likely to be an evening-up of contracts, because much can happen in the far east in the three days during which the exchange will be closed. If the short interest is as large as estimated there is likely to be a continuation of the covering movement today which was the principal feature of the market yesterday. As the Pittsburgh stock exchange had already voted for the long holiday contingent upon New York's action, the market here will also likely be closed. While the banks will be closed tomorrow, both here and in the east, they will be open on Saturday, and the weekly statement of the New York banks will be made at the usual hour.

The impenetrable mystery which has been maintained regarding the great projects alleged to be in contemplation in the railroad world, lends itself to sudden fears as well as buoyant hopes and to a sudden reversal from extreme confidence to full rejection of all dying reports. This was seen in the tendency of the current stock market rumors to face about from faith in the wholesale harmony in the competing railroad interest to fears of a renewed outbreak of all the old hostility of the period before the Northern Securities formation. For instance, doubts were urged of the legal right of Union Pacific to hold Northern Pacific or Great Northern stock, which would come to it as the proceeds of the North ern Securities dissolution, on the opinion of the supreme court, pronounced incidentally in the Northern Securities decision, that the turning over of control of Northern Pacific to Union Pacific would contravene the Sherman law, was cited as authority for this view. Alleged intention to preclude minority representation from the directorates of the two railroads were also discussed. These suggestions of a spirit of hostility rather than harmony prevailing in the railroad world, the so-called "mystery stocks" in the market suffered most acutely from the liquidation, but rallied effectually on the late renewal of harmony reports.

By selling at 76 yesterday Pittsburgh Coal preferred recorded a net recovery of 12 points from the recent low level, and the fact was generally commented upon that the stock rallied easily, indicating that the selling pressure had entirely disappeared. The stock will be quoted ex-dividend today and the dividend will be paid next Tuesday. The common stock was less active but firmer and recovered to 18.

Tonopah Extension continued to come out in rather large blocks at $5 40 a share, but the demand is sufficient to absorb all offerings at that price. Robert C. Hall was again the largest buyer yesterday. The annual meeting of the company will be held May 15.

According to Wall street gossip Union Pacific has marketed between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 of its holdings of Northern Securities, and this heavy selling is said to account for the wide fluctuations in the stock the past two days.

J. W. Barber was yesterday receiving the congratulations of his many friends in local financial circles on his promotion to be secretary and assistant treasurer of the Monongahela River Coal Company. Mr. Barber has been with the company for years and lately held the position of paymaster. W. D. O'Neil, having resigned as secretary on account of ill-health, left the opening for the deserved promotion of an efficient officer in the person of Mr. Barber.

There were no dealings in Northern Pacific on the New York curb yesterday, but nominal quotations were made for the stocks when reopened, and the bid and asked prices thus made showed the price range well sustained near the recent high level. Great Northern preferred sold down 19½ and rallied 5. This relieved some apprehension that the stocks were likely to slump when the re-distribution replenished the supply in the market. It was evident also that many of the brokers and commission houses which were the largest sellers during the heavy decline Tuesday were busy buying to recover their holdings. The persistence of this demand helped to restore confidence and developed the strength of the latter part of the day.

Gross earnings of Missouri Pacific for the second week in April increased $66,000. For the same week Wabash increased $9,350; Missouri, Kansas & Texas increased $81,329; Texas & Pacific increased $24,256, and St. Louis & Southwestern increased $59,422.

Rumor has it that Atlantic Coast Line will guarantee 7 per cent on the Louisville & Nashville stocks, and another extra stock dividend may be paid again on Atlantic Coast Line. The stock seems to be bought for inside interests.

Yesterday was a holiday on the Boston stock exchange, and brokers there were sending orders here in mining stocks in which Pittsburgh is interested. About 5,000 shares North Butte changed hands at prices ranging from 23½ to 24.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the second week in April increased $67,285.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, April 19.—Supplies of money were more plentiful in the market today, owing to dividend disbursements. The demand was fair. Discounts were easier. Business on the stock exchange was dull throughout. All the departments were neglected, owing to the closing of the account prior to the holidays. There was a rather better tendency at the close of the day. Consols were easier. Home rails were heavy on the unfavorable weather. Americans opened weak, Northern Securities leading and then rallied to a fraction over parity on British and Continental buying. In the afternoon Wall street advices depressed prices sharply. A prompt recovery followed on renewed support, but the market closed unsettled. Japanese were depressed on the announcement of the new internal loan. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 101. Consols for money, 90 11-16; consols for account, 90⅝; bar silver quiet, 26¾d an ounce; money, 1½ per cent; discount, short bills, 1⅞@2 per cent; three months' bills, 2 per cent.

PARIS, April 19.—Prices on the bourse today opened irregular and with trading dull. At the closing the market was firm. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 87.60 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 308. The private rate of discount was 2 per cent; three per cent rentes, 99 francs 40 centimes for the account; exchange on London, 25 francs 14½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, April 19.—Prices on the boerse today generally were lower; exchange on London, 20 marks 48 pfgs. for checks; discount rates, short bills, 1 per cent; three months' bills, 1⅞ per cent.

Standard Investment Bonds.

MARKET STATUS IS SATISFACTORY

Iron and Steel Demand Continues Strong With an Excellent Outlook in All Lines.

MORE PIG IRON DEALS SOON

More satisfactory conditions could not well be found than those prevailing at present in the general iron and steel market. Nearly all the finished lines are in demand which exceeds the supply, and this has brought the entire available furnace capacity into operation. At the same time the railroads throughout the Pittsburgh district have been giving adequate service, it is said, and for the time transportation has ceased to be as bothersome a factor as it usually is.

In the pig iron market the principal announcement of the week is that concerning the completion of the deal by which five of the merchant furnaces in the valleys will supply the new Bessemer steel plant of the Youngstown Iron, Sheet and Tube Company, with the iron it needs. This deal will not, of course, be effective for about a year, inasmuch as the steel plant is yet to be built, and the five furnaces will not be out of the general market this year.

It is stated that both the Lackawanna and the United States Steel Corporation will be in the iron market within the next 10 days for May iron. A number of other contracts made earlier in the year expire May 1, and the renewal of these is likely to bring a demand which will not be represented by the present price figures. It has been rumored that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company will buy more iron, but this is considered improbable unless the courts, under the Oakland dust nuisance crusade, force the company to close the furnaces from which the iron is secured.

The demand for billets is such that deals are easily closed, when any billets can be found, on a basis of $4 00 or $5 00 above the official price.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business is going along in fine shape, the trade being in receipt of the largest business for this time of the year that has been done in years, an excellent demand existing and orders coming in for good quantities of season goods, builders' hardware, carpenters' tools, house furnishing goods and general lines. The demand on wire nails continues very strong, the conditions being most favorable for outside work. An excellent business is also being done in bicycles and bicycle sundries and in general lines of sporting goods, the opening of the baseball season inciting great interest in this line. Window glass continues to move freely, and in good quantities, the feeling existing that a shutdown about the first of June will find stocks in rather poor shape, so that dealers are trying now to get their stocks in shape for summer business. Prices in a general way are very firm, with some recent small advances having taken place. The Lindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount, 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount, 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount, 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 28, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount, 70 and 10 per cent; size weights, the ton, $24 00; window glass, small lots, 90 and 20 per cent from list October 1, 1903; 10-box lots, 90 and 25 per cent from list October 1, 1903; 50-box lots, 90, 25 and 5 per cent, from list October 1, 1903; Albion sewing machines, discount, 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion gas stoves, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; fire shovels and pokers, 40 and 10 per cent.

SITUATION IS IMPROVED ON THE MESABA RANGE

Labor Conditions Well in Hand and There Is Little Danger of Serious Interruptions to Mining.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

The latest official reports from the Mesaba range indicate that the labor situation in that important ore mining district is now pretty well in hand and that there is little danger of a serious interruption in operations. Work was partly or wholly resumed at some of the mines today.

After the prolonged spell of activity in buying in the principal pig iron distributing markets, there has been rather a quiet time of it lately. Taking it as a whole, the general foundry trade has not yet shown any notable expansion. The heavy branches continue very active and under full pressure. There has been further good booking of steel rail orders, chiefly from the west and southwest.

The tonnage coming to the bridge shops is exceedingly heavy. The leading interest has been flooded with inquiries, which during the week aggregated more than those of the previous month. They include railroad bridges and steel structures for industrial plants, and a very good run of small lots for buildings.

Glenn Suspends Clerk LaBelle.

Because he answered back when taken to task by Acting Superintendent John Glenn of the Allegheny police force, for staying away too long at dinner, Sergeant Jacques LaBelle, who has been doing clerical work about the office, was suspended yesterday afternoon. He was told to turn over his books, which he did, leaving the city hall soon afterward. Supt. Glenn said the suspension was for an indefinite time and was due to LaBelle's quick temper.

FLOUR SHOWS MOVE FOR BIG PRICE REDUCTION

Market Very Weak and Dealers Look for Heavy Decline in Near Future.

Flour showed great weakness yesterday in the local markets and dealers anticipate an early crash in prices. The uncertainty in the May wheat market and the evident inability of the gamblers to boost the price of July wheat seems to have effectually ended all hopes of higher flour or of much higher wheat. In fact, a general slump in the wheat market is now looked for and flour is expected to accompany it down the scale.

Potatoes are now selling along Liberty street at 40 cents a bushel. Farmers who held their potatoes from last fall until this spring, in anticipation of higher prices, have been grievously disappointed. The market was simply overstocked and potatoes were never much cheaper at this time of the year than they are this spring. On the other hand, clover seed has been selling at $9 a bushel. The farmer who is selling his potatoes at 30 cents a bushel today is greatly perplexed at where he is coming out when he has to sell 30 bushels of potatoes to buy one bushel of clover seed. Clover seed, however, is dropping, now that the season is about over, and the high prices are over for this year.

Green goods were selling well yesterday and there were no changes in prices. Business will stand considerable improvement over what it is without overworking the dealers, but they are not dissatisfied.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 19 cars hay, 20 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 7 cars feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 3 cars hay, 1 car feed. Baltimore & Ohio, 9 cars hay, 6 cars oats.

The market remains quiet and dull, except on car corn. Receipts of that are very light and not equal to demand. Mill feed quotations are again received. Straw is in demand and hay remains about the same.

BUYERS HAVE BEST OF THE PIG IRON MARKET

Strong Consumption in March Has Strengthened Sentiment, but Has Not Increased Sales.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, April 19.—Te Iron Trade Review says: "The effect of April pig iron statistics, showing an apparent consumption in March of approximately 2,000,000 tons, has been to strengthen sentiment, but without increasing sales. The market for all descriptions of pig iron has been quiet in the last week, with the situation rather more in buyers' hands in the central west, and firm and substantially unchanged in the east.

"The steel trade continues buoyant and expansive, and the scarcity of steel billets is immediately the feature of the market, leaving already too numerous inquiries for forging sales.

"Without receiving much attention, rail buying goes on steadily. Some further activity in the Lake Superior ore market is reported, and some important deals involving Mesaba range properties are pending. Increase from central western blast furnaces for coke for 1906 have already appeared."

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 5 points, the loss being limited to March. The opening was about in line with early French cables and a spot advance of 25c continued liquidation of the near months, roasting interests were good buyers and the market showed a steadier undertone than recently. Toward the close prices ruled firm on predictions for a continued small Brazilian movement and rumors of adverse crop news and the market closed firm at a net advance of 5@10 points. Sales reported of 165,750 bags, including May at 6.10@6.15c; July, 6.30c; August, 6.45c; September, 6.50@6.55c; Oct ber, 6.60c; December, 6.75@6.85c; March, 6.90c; spot Rio firm; No. 7 invoice, 7¾c; mild quiet; Cordova, 10@13c. Sugar, raw unsettled; fair refining, 4 3-32c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4 25-32c; molasses sugar, 3 27-32c; refined quiet.

WHEAT WEAKENS WITH FAIR WEATHER REPORT

Outlook for Fall-Sown Crop Brighter—Heavy Liquidation in May Option.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 19.—Excellent weather for growth of fall sown wheat crop was perhaps the chief cause of weakness here today in the wheat market. Heavy liquidation of May wheat was another bearish influence. At the close May wheat was down 1¾c. July wheat is off ⅝c. Corn and provisions are practically unchanged. Oats show a loss of ⅛@¼c.

Weakness in wheat developed during the last half of the session, sentiment in the first half being quite bullish. At the opening the market was influenced by higher cables and Liverpool. July was unchanged to a shade higher at 88@88¼c. May was ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 91 15/16@91 15/16. For a time July was in good demand from influential traders, but offerings were light. The result was a moderate advance, the price rising to 88⅝@88¾c before the end of the first half hour. Increased buying of May sent the price of that option to $1 15/16. Reports of frost last night in various sections of the wheat belt had a strengthening influence on the market early in the day. Later a complete reversal of sentiment occurred, the market becoming decidedly weak. Coincident with the slump there was heavy liquidation in the May option. General belief in the pit was that the bull clique was endeavoring to dispose of a part of the clique holdings. A factor decidedly instrumental in causing the decline was a series of dispatches indicating favorable progress in the development of winter wheat. The Kentucky state report stated that the growing wheat plant was in excellent condition. The Iowa state report announced a satisfactory condition in general. Predictions of rain followed by warmer weather in the southwest gave additional encouragement to the bears. An unusually liberal increase in primary receipts aided the selling movement. Several large commission houses were active sellers of July, which as a result declined to 87¾c. Meantime May sold off to 91 15/16. Just before the close part of the loss in July was regained on covering by shorts, but May continued heavy. The market left off weak with May at 91 15/16 and July at 87¾c. Strength in wheat and flour were equal to 100,800 bushels. Primary receipts were 562,000 bushels, compared with 196,600 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 148 cars, against 143 cars last week and 135 cars a year ago.

Notwithstanding the weakness of wheat the corn market had a comparatively firm undertone. The chief factor of a bullish character was a continuation of small receipts. Trading was exceedingly light. Shorts were the principal buyers. July opened 1@1¼c higher at 47½@47¾c, sold between 47⅝c and 47¾c, and closed at 47¾c. Local receipts were 107 cars, with five of contract grade.

Weakness of wheat started liberal profit-taking in oats, resulting in a general decline. Predictions of rain also had a depressing effect on the market. July opened a shade higher at 29¾c, sold between 29¾c and 30c, and closed at 29¾c. Local receipts were 47 cars.

Extreme dullness pervaded the provisions market. Owing to continued heavy receipts of hogs sentiment in the pit was a trifle bearish. At the close all July products were off 2½c, pork closing at $12 77½ and lard at $7 37½. And ribs at $7 20@7 22½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 107 cars; corn, 150 cars; oats, 65 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

MAYOR WYMAN FULL OF PRIDE

Tells Councils That Reduction of Millage Is Answer to His Critics.

S. G. PORTER'S GOOD RECORD

The first regular meeting of the new Allegheny select council was held yesterday afternoon. The reports of the heads of departments, already published, were submitted, and Mayor Wyman's annual message was read. John C. Oliver, the member from the Eleventh ward, was sworn in. In his message the mayor said he had intended to suggest several needed municipal improvements, but on examining the reports of the heads of departments he found that they had covered the ground completely.

In establishing the millage for the present year, the mayor continued, the councils, by reason of the large increase in the receipts from the law department and the economies practiced by all the departments, have been able to reduce the millage from 15 to 11 mills, thus materially decreasing the burden on the property owners.

The millage is not only the best guide, but in cities the size of Allegheny is the only guide that the taxpayers have as to the conduct of municipal officers, and I believe that it is sufficient answer to all my critics to show that in this, the second year of my administration, Allegheny has the lowest tax rate it has had within a quarter of a century.

Stephen G. Porter, the city solicitor, made a brief report, which included the reports of his assistants, W. W. Stoner and Craig Smith. He made particular mention of $650,000 taken in from forced collections for street improvements and the saving of $30,000 interest.

The ordinance directing the proper officers of the city to enter into and execute an agreement with the officers of the city of Pittsburgh, whereby Allegheny shall give permission to Pittsburgh to cross with its filtered water conduit the 12-foot right of way of Allegheny's water line in the borough of Aspinwall, was passed finally.

On the call of wards the following ordinances were introduced and referred:

Authorizing the mayor and controller to advertise for the sale of $910,000 worth of bonds for city improvements, voted for at the February election; installing a new manifold system and connecting a new 60-inch steel main to the Howard street pumping station from the 60-inch Montrose conduit; authorizing the construction of a new steam line and changing the feed line of the Howard street pumping station; fixing the salary of the assistant clerk in the controller's office at $100 per month; authorizing the director of public works to enter into an agreement for the collection of waste paper; authorizing the payment of $300 to Morris Roach for time lost on account of injuries received while on duty in the bureau of police, and of $22 to William Bolster, for time lost while performing duty in the bureau of water; establishing the grade of Ellis street; grading, paving and curbing Euclid avenue; grading Verona street; authorizing the purchase of 135 tons of refined Trinidad asphalt for repaving of streets and park walks.

TO ORGANIZE MINERS.

United Mine Workers Will Send 25 Representatives Into the Irwin Field.

The district executive board of the United Mine workers closed a two days' session yesterday afternoon and decided to send 25 organizers into the Irwin field. These organizers are to spare no effort to bring every coal miner in that district into the folds of the union.

Vice President T. L. Lewis will leave this morning on a tour of inspection of the Connellsville coke regions to view the result so far accomplished by William Little, a national board member who has charge of the organizing work in the coke region. Mr. Lewis will then visit the Irwin field. His next stop will be in Kentucky.

Body Should Rest at Annapolis.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The naval authorities are unanimously of the opinion that the remains of John Paul Jones should be buried in the cemetery at the United States naval academy at Annapolis, because he was a distinguished naval officer, and the burial grounds at the academy are distinctly naval.

SOCIETY

MISS GLADYS LONSDALE PAINTER, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Park Painter, formerly of Allegheny but now of Lakewood, N. J., will join her parents at the New Jersey resort tomorrow. Miss Painter will leave Pittsburgh today after an extended visit with her aunts, Miss Martha Brandon Guthrie, Miss Maria Louise Guthrie, Miss Mary Kilbreth Guthrie, and Mrs. Thomas H. Dickson, at their home in Ridge avenue, Allegheny. For a part of the two months which Miss Painter spent in her former home she was a house guest of Miss Edith Hay, also of Ridge avenue. Her eldest sister, Miss Eleanor Guthrie Painter, is expected in Allegheny to visit her aunts during the early part of next month. Her wedding to Lieut. Harris Ford Reed, U. S. A., which was to have been a June event at "Graydon," the Painter summer home in Watch Hill, has been postponed until July.

Carnegie-Hever.

Pittsburgh society was surprised yesterday by the announcement that Nancy, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Thomas M. Carnegie and the favorite niece of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, had been married last May to James Hever, formerly of this city.

The arrival of Mr. and Mrs. James Hever and their infant daughter, Florence Retta, from Europe last Sunday was the first intimation of the wedding. The Hevers were met by Mrs. Frederick Curtis Perkins, a sister of Mr. Hever, and her brothers, Coleman and Frank M. Carnegie. They were taken to Mr. Andrew Carnegie's home, where they are the former steel master's guests.

Mr. Hever was a foster child of an Irish family and is well educated. He came to America to make his own way, and about five years ago was engaged to take care of the children of Mrs. Thomas M. Carnegie at "Dungeness," Fernandina, Fla., and at Pittsburgh. Miss Nancy Carnegie was fond of riding and was brought much in contact with him. He remained in the Carnegie service three years, but is now the proprietor of a riding academy in New York city.

Plans for the Campbell-Graff Wedding.

At her wedding to John A. Graff on Monday evening, Miss Lillian P. Campbell will have as her one attendant a younger sister, Miss Elizabeth Black. Mr. Graff has asked his brother, Edwin A. Graff, Jr., to serve as his best-man. The marriage will be quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Black, in Singer place, Wilkinsburg, the Rev. Dr. M. M. Patterson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of that place, officiating. Seven o'clock is the hour set for the ceremony, which will be witnessed only by the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the bridal couple. Among those expected from out of town are Mr. Graff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Graff; his brother, H. D. Graff, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Emery, uncle and aunt of Miss Campbell, all from Chicago. The bride will be given away by her uncle and guardian, William C. Coffin of the East End. Mr. Coffin is to give a dinner at the Country club on Saturday evening for his niece and her fiance. Mr. Graff, the prospective bridegroom, who is a grandson and namesake of the late John A. Graff of Sewickley, is connected with the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Coal Company. He and his bride have announced Fridays in May as days at home at the Hotel Dorset.

Social Affairs in the Valley.

Society in the Sewickley valley is anticipating much from the vaudeville entertainment to be given for the benefit of the Sewickley Fresh Air Home on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 3 and 4, in the Sewickley auditorium. There is a great deal of dramatic ability among the Edgeworth club set, which will be used to make the affair one of unusual merit, those participating being Dr. Walter Haworth, Howard Muzzy, Miss Mabel Beardsley, Alexander Hays, Miss Lucy Haworth, John B. Booth, Miss Rebekah Miller, Harold Allen, Mrs. Frederick Holdship, Mrs. Leonard Graham, Mrs. John McCord, Miss Margaret Graham, Miss Henrietta McGeary, Clarence Finche, Charles L. Doyle, C. S. Mrs. W. L. Haworth Blair of Sewickley gave a pretty luncheon at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Blair, who is home from Havigal college, Toronto, for the Easter vacation. Covers were laid for 16, the guests being of the younger college set. Miss Muriel Jarvis, a schoolmate of Miss Blair, shared the honors.

Shane Nichols, pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church, will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock. The bride will be given away by her father. Miss Aurelia Clark, a sister, will serve as maid of honor, and little Eugene Scott and Miss Katherine Clark, nephew and niece of the bride, as ring-bearer and flower-girl. The bridal couple will go to housekeeping in Oakland avenue, having announced days at home after June 1. Mrs. Alexander E. Clark of Columbus and the bride's parents and sister are out-of-town guests here for the wedding. Mrs. Clark, the bride's mother, is president of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance union. Millerstown Couple Celebrate.

Two hundred guests, including many from Wheeling, Oil City and Cleveland, were present yesterday at the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Moore of Millerstown. Mr. Moore was born in County Down, Ireland, December 18, 1829, and came to the United States 25 years later. He and his family lived in Allegheny until five years ago, when they moved to Avalon, and one year later to Millerstown. Mrs. Moore, who was formerly Miss Emeline Forgey, was born in Robinson township September 5, 1834. The couple have five children living. They are Mrs. John S. French of Cleveland, O.; William Moore and John Moore of Millerstown, Mrs. S. D. Barr of Wilkinsburg, and J. Lawrence Moore of Bellevue.

Golder-Rogers.

At the home of the bride's father, William J. Golder, Clifton park, Allegheny, Miss Maria Golder and Andrew Rogers were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. C. The attendants included the maid of honor, Miss Ella Golder; bridesmaids, Miss Laura Rogers and Miss Alma Golder; best man, J. C. Rogers, and the ushers, T. F. Smith and Will Golder. The couple will live in Wilson avenue, Allegheny.

Miss Alrich Gives a Tea.

A charmingly informal affair was the tea at which Miss Florence Bell Alrich of Shady avenue was hostess yesterday in honor of her cousin, Miss Mary Stewart Dickey, a bride-elect of the month. Mrs. George W. Hallman, an aunt of the hostess, and the guest of honor, received with them, and acting as assistants were Miss Edith Keating, Miss Emily Keating, Miss Emma Cain, Miss Edith Evans and Miss Emma McIlvaine.

WAGES ARE INCREASED.

But Blast Furnace Workers Will Still Demand They Be Given Eight-Hour Day.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 19.—(Special.)—Notices have been posted in the various blast furnaces that beginning May 1, the wages of laborers will be increased 5 per cent, and turn men 10 per cent. President James McMahon of the Blast Furnace Workers and Smelters' Union of America, said the advance was but a return of the former wages, received by the men before the independents reduced them a year ago. The United States Steel Corporation is not included.

The men will still make demand for an eight-hour day next week. "The men do not want an increase in wages," said President McMahon. "What they want is an eight-hour day, and I think they will get it. The union will ask that it go in force May 1."

WOULD SAVE FOREIGNERS.

Consul General Merle Is Eager to Cooperate With Coroner J. G. Armstrong.

Co-operation with Coroner Joseph G. Armstrong to prevent the "needless slaughter" of foreigners in Pittsburgh manufacturing plants is promised by Consul General Adelbert Merle of Austria-Hungary in a statement made yesterday. He says that he has obtained statistics of all such deaths for many years past and he is studying them now to see what steps he can take to reduce such occurrences in the future.

Consul General Merle is eager to have the owners of manufacturing plants made responsible for deaths or injuries sustained by employes when the negligence of the owners can be proved.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Study Holland Next Year.

Pittsburgh Sorosis met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Mills in Howe street, East End. The new president, Mrs. Dallas Albert, who was elected at the last meeting, presided for the first time. There was quite a long business meeting when the program committee, consisting of Mrs. W. H. Johnston and Mrs. N. P. Hyndman, reported progress in their work of arranging the program for next year when the club will take up a study of Holland. This year Sorosis will take no part in the work of the summer playgrounds, as the Forbes school, which has usually been its care, cannot be secured for this season. Some of the members, however, will work for the playgrounds in other parts of the city. The club has also decided this year not to give an entertainment to raise money for the different civic objects in which it has been interested. It has also decided to make the last meeting on May 17 a social meeting. The literary program for yesterday afternoon was shortened as several of the women assigned for the day are out of the city. Mrs. Ella Coffin presented an historical sketch of the life of Pope and Mrs. Johnston gave a short talk on Lady Mary Montague. Current events were discussed by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. George Porter. Mrs. Frank Berle was present for the first time in many months, and next year will be an active member of the club.

Will Revise the Constitution.

The Southern Woman's club at its meeting yesterday decided to revise the constitution which was adopted less than a year ago. A committee was appointed for this purpose with Mrs. James M. Drill, chairman. It will report at a later meeting. The Southern Women's club held its regular fortnightly meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Drill. The hostess presented a very interesting book review of Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s, book, "The Clansman." "Is Social Prestige Worth While?" was decided in the negative by Miss Effie Dean, who ably discussed the subject and concluded that it demands too strenuous a life to be of inestimable value. "Important Advancement in the World of Women" was the subject of a talk by Miss Inez Vallentine, and the program concluded with the reading by Mrs. George Hamilton of a poem, which was inscribed on Gen. Robert E. Lee's home in Arlington, now a soldier's home. Tea followed the literary features of the afternoon. Mrs. W. C. Weckerle and Mrs. Joseph O. Ewing presiding at the tea table.

Centennial Anniversaries.

The Germanic society will take up a study of Hans Christian Andersen's writings, whose centenary has just been observed, at the next meeting which will be held on Tuesday, April 25. About the middle of May the society will also commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Schiller. A distinguished scholar from the east will be the speaker on that occasion. The Germanic society was organized recently and had its initial meeting in March at the Twentieth Century club when Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, professor of German literature at Bryn Mawr, spoke on "The Relations Between German and American Civilizations and the Necessity of Fostering Them." The society intends to establish a German library, which will have on file German periodicals, and under its auspices classes in conversation, reading, translation and grammar will be conducted. Its meetings will be held once a month in the evening and once in the afternoon, and opportunities will be given before and after the meetings for conversation in German.

Audubon Society Meets.

The Western Pennsylvania Audubon Society held a special meeting at the home of Miss Gertrude Guffey, 909 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, yesterday afternoon, when it was resolved to discontinue the practice of giving monetary rewards to informants on persons guilty of violation of the bird laws. It was resolved that Leon Brumbaugh represent the society and interview the principals of the Pittsburgh, Allegheny and county schools with the object of securing their co-operation in the organizations engaged in ornithological matters.

The members of the Business Women's club extend a cordial invitation to their friends to attend the opening of the new club house, 515 Arch street, Allegheny, between the hours of 3 and 9 on Saturday afternoon and evening. In addition to an exhibition by the classes there will be a sale of fancy and common sense articles.
